Senate Votes Extra Billion For Preparedness

WASHINGTON (AP) — Forging $1 billion beyond President Kennedy's requests, the Senate voted unanimously Friday for a record peacetime defense budget of $46.8 billion.

An 85-0 roll call sent the money bill to the House which had voted $42-plus billion well before Kennedy called 10 days ago for a $3.5-billion spending boost in the face of fresh Communist threats to West Berlin.

The Senate added about $1 billion that the President did not ask for his program of strengthening U. S. conventional, ground warfare forces. This pushed the Senate-approved total about $4 billion above that of the House.

The House, however, is expected to go along promptly with the added $1 billion, largely for more bombers, although the administration may refuse to spend the money.

Biggest single, unasked addition is $525 million to continue production of B52 jet bombers which Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara has said he doesn't need. The Senate also added $228 million to the $200 million the House voted for development of the 2,000 m.p.h. B70 bomber which the administration feels could not become an effective weapon before missile systems are perfected.

Other increases are largely for expansion of National Guard and reserve units.

Earlier, Congress overwhelmingly approved and the President signed measures authorizing the chief executive to call up to 250,000 reservists and guardsmen to active duty and permitting him to spend nearly $1 billion to arm and equip them.

Before reaching a final vote Friday, the Senate brushed aside two efforts to eliminate or reduce the $207.6 million Kennedy asked for an intensified civil defense program.

On a standing vote, it affirmed its voice vote of Thursday rejecting an elimination amendment by Sen. Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio. Then it dealt similarly with a motion by Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio, to cut the civil defense allotment to $100 million.

The money is to be used to designate and stock with food and other supplies fallout shelter areas in thousands of existing buildings, private and public. It does not provide for construction of shelters.

30-Year Home Loan Plan Gets Approval

By STERLING F. GREEN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Reduced down payments and longer-term mortgage for homes in the middle-income class — houses costing $20,000 and up-ward authorized Friday by the Federal Home Loan Bank Board.

In an action that is expected to spread through the mortgage-lending industry, the board announced that federally chartered savings and loan associations may make 30-year mortgages up to $26,500.

The down payment would be 10 per cent of the cost up to $25,000, and 20 per cent on the amount in excess of $25,000. Simultaneously the board increased the resources which the associations may lend in long-term, low-down-payment home mortgages.

"In effect, the board is inviting us to invite $8 billion worth of new housing with smaller down payments and smaller monthly payments," said a spokesman for the National League of Insured Savings and Loan Associations.

"This will have a rolling effect, as state chartered associations win permission to give similar terms. These almost certainly will be followed by other competing mortgage lenders."

The result, for the buyer of a $30,000 house, is that he need put up only $3,500 in cash instead of $8,000. He has five years longer to pay off the loan, at lower monthly payments of principal and interest.

The bank board thus gave a shot in the arm to a housing market which did not benefit directly from earlier government actions reducing the interest rate on loans underwritten by the Federal Housing Administration and the Veterans Administration.

Rescuers Fail To Get Bodies From Death Bus

LUZERN, Switzerland (UPI)—Rescue workers Friday failed for the second day to recover the bodies of 15 American tourists from a bus 150 feet below the surface of Lake Lucerne.

Police said a third attempt to haul the bus ashore would be made Saturday. They worked with frogmen, deep sea divers, and firemen Friday but failed to move it.

Diver Siegfried Naumann, who first reached the bus Thursday, attached one rope to the wreckage to keep it from sinking further into the mud on the lake bottom.

All but five of the 22 survivors of the accident have been released from nearby hospitals. Most were treated for shock and minor injuries. A 16th victim was recovered shortly after the bus plunged into the lake Wednesday.

The canton of Nidwalden is observing a three-day official period of mourning for the accident's victims. A Mass will be said for them Saturday in the Catholic church of Hergiswil, near the site of the accident.

Pilots Have Code

EL PASO, Tex. (UPI)—Robert F. Six, president of Continental Airlines, disclosed that pilots have a secret code word they use to let the nearest airfield know their plane has been hijacked.

He would not say what the word is.

Door Appears Open For Talks On Berlin

Rusk In Paris Says Freedom To Be Preserved

By TOM OCHILTREE

PARIS (AP)—U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk said Friday that he and the foreign ministers of Britain, France and West Germany would seek an approach to possible Berlin negotiations on a basis which would preserve freedom, democracy and understanding.

"We will do our best to find the answer to these problems so as to preserve the liberty and peace of the Western world," Rusk told newsmen on his arrival from Washington for talks on Berlin here this weekend.

Willing To Negotiate

He made it clear that the West would talk with the Soviet Union—but only in an absence of threats or pressure. The West, he declared, holds World War II victors' rights to garrison West Berlin.

Rusk's statement coincided with a declaration by the Soviet government that it also was willing to shift toward negotiation.

The basic problem faced by the four Western spokesmen—Rusk, Britain's Lord Home, France's Maurice Couve de Murville and West Germany's Heinrich von Brentano—is the preservation of freedom of the 2.25 million West Berliners isolated behind the Iron Curtain.

Lord Home said he was "quite sure these meetings will be useful and we will be able to agree on whatever action that might be appropriate."

Seen As First Act

Many diplomats feel that the talks here, which start Saturday and continue through Monday, will make up merely the first act in a long drama of conference-table sparring.

An obvious next step would be a Western summit conference to put a seal on the foreign ministers' work.

Then could come an East-West foreign ministers session and the biggest conference of all—an East-West summit with President Kennedy, President Charles de Gaulle and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan facing Khrushchev.

Rusk declared the North Atlantic Treaty Organization powers were in no way responsible for the present crisis.

"If the Soviet Union is disturbed over West Germany, it should not be forgotten that West Germany began arming only after East Germany did so," he told newsmen.

Khrush Claims He Is Ready To Negotiate

By PRESTON GROVER

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Khrushchev told the Western powers Friday he is ready to negotiate a settlement on the future of Germany and Berlin. No specific proposals were made about setting up a conference, apparently leaving the next move to the West.

Parallel notes to the United States, Britain and France concentrated much of their fire on West Germany and accused the Western powers of rearming the West Germans so Bonn can push the world "to the brink.' Otherwise, the Soviet tone was more argumentative than threatening.

A fourth note to the West Germans themselves, however, harshly warned they would not survive "even a few hours of the third world war if it is unleashed." It accused the West German government of opposing "any regulation which could lead to strengthening the peace in Europe."

Settle On Our Terms

None of the notes contained any change in the Khrushchev line on Germany, and it was clear that he will try to negotiate a settlement on his own terms.

However, the British were invited to submit proposals for discussion. No such offer appeared in the note to Washington.

The round of notes was the latest in a diplomatic exchange that began two months ago in Vienna when Khrushchev gave President Kennedy a memorandum on Berlin outlining his plans to sign a peace treaty with Communist East Germany by the end of the year. This would hand over control of Western access rights to West Berlin to the East German Communists.

On July 17, the three Western Allies sent the Soviet Union notes warning that Khrushchev's plans present "grave dangers" threatening peace. The Big Three said they were always ready to consider "a freely negotiated settlement to the unresolved problems of Germany." But they insisted on their rights to remain in Berlin and on a peace treaty signed only with a united Germany after free, all-German elections.

Khrushchev signed notes replying to the West and had them delivered to the Western ambassadors Thursday. The note to West Germany—toughest of the four—was in reply to a separate memorandum from Bonn delivered July 12.

Four Workers Hurt In Plant Blast

SOUTH CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI) — Four workers were injured, none seriously, in an explosion Friday in the "quality control" laboratory of the Food Machinery Corp. chemical plant here.

The cause of the explosion was not immediately determined. No damage estimate was made.

Army Map Unit Employe Accused Of Being A Nazi

WASHINGTON (AP) — Schuyler D. Ferris, a civilian employe of the Army map service, acknowledged Friday that he belongs to the "Fighting American Nationalists," an organization associated with the American Nazi party.

Ferris, whose dismissal has been demanded by a congressman, also said he may charge the Army with persecuting him for his political beliefs. It is investigating him.

The congressman, Rep. Seymour Halpern, R-N. Y., discussed Ferris in a letter to Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara this week.

"I do not understand how the United States government can justify continued employment of an individual so unstable politically that he facilitates totalitarian extremism and propaganda," Halpern wrote.

Ferris has been accused of supplying the "hate bus" which George Lincoln Rockwell and his Nazi party troopers drove through the South at the height of the desegregation campaign by the "Freedom Riders."

Ferris said, "I am not a member of the American Nazi party or the Nazi party nor have I ever been."

He said, however, that he belonged to the Fighting American Nationalists, an organization which Rockwell helped create. Rockwell works closely with it.

Italians Fire U.S. Jupiter On Target

An Air Force announcement said the shot "was successful."

The 59-foot operational model of the army-developed Jupiter was scheduled to go 1,500 miles into the Atlantic.

The shot, at 8:19 p.m. EDT, appeared to be perfect. Its flaming tail could be seen for more than five minutes in the early evening sky.

Italian crews have been in the United States almost a year getting experience in handling countdown and firing operations for Jupiter.

This was the second firing here by the Italians, who are members of the 36th aerobrigade Jupiter missile groups, a vital link in the Italian armed forces assigned to NATO. The group has had operational Jupiters for several months.

Purpose of the test Friday night was to give the NATO forces more experience in the Jupiter weapons system and in use of the ground support equipment.

Administration Asks Congress For Action On Air Hijackings

By STANLEY MEISLER

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Kennedy administration asked Congress Friday to meet the menace of "air drunks, flying fools, and spies in the sky" by passing a law to make airline hijacking punishable by life imprisonment.

This would put airline hijacking in the same class of crime as piracy on the high seas.

The administration views were presented to Congress by Najeeb E. Halaby, the Federal Aviation Agency administrator.

He opened hearings of the Senate Aviation subcommittee by testifying that the proposed legislation would bring the President, the FBI, the Border Patrol, the FAA, and other federal agencies into the battle against hijackers.

Citing Thursday's hijacking in El Paso, Tex., Halaby said that, if Congress passes the new law, no longer would "a defenseless girl, a preoccupied crew, or local police" be the only barriers against would-be hijackers.

No Existing Law

At present, no federal law covers such hijacking. Leon Bearden, 38, and his son, Cody, 16, arrested in El Paso Thursday, were charged with violating the federal kidnaping law.

It also is difficult to charge hijackers under state law, like those covering assault. For one thing, it is very hard to figure out where the plane was flying when the crime was committed. For another, the arrested man likely would land in a state different from the one in which he committed his crime, making extradition action necessary.

Reviewing this situation, John H. Warner, general counsel of the Civil Aeronautics Board, told the subcommittee: "Under present conditions of high speed air transportation, state criminal laws are no longer adequate as a deterrent to crimes on board aircraft."

Halaby, discussing the recent series of hijackings, said the last three cases evidently were carried out by foolish men who felt by some "heroic act they could make some progress in their individual lives — psychopathic as they may be."

Spy In The Sky

But Halaby said there also is the problem of the "airborne subversive, the spy in the sky," who may hijack a plane at the bidding of a foreign government or under a compulsion to humiliate the United States.

In this regard, Halaby said the government has no positive evidence of any connection between Thursday's hijacking and Prime Minister Fidel Castro's Cuban regime.

Leonard Gilman, the Border Patrol officer credited with capturing Bearden, testified that the man had told him, "This was not a political conspiracy, he had no conversations with Castro, and merely wanted transportation on the airplane he hijacked."

Nevertheless, Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois told the Senate, "I don't swallow any explanation that this hijacking had no identity with this festering sore some 90 miles off our own shore."

He said he could not accept the

Baby Sitter Admits Killing Three Children

DUBUQUE, Iowa (AP)—A baby sitter, who said she liked to hold babies tightly, admitted Friday she was sitting with three children at the time of their deaths, police said.

One father and mother lost both of their daughters.

Police Chief Percy Lucas said Miss Mary Madigan, 29, admitted in a signed statement that in all three cases she was holding the babies in her arms when they died. County Atty. Robert Oeth said "some sort of homocide charge" would be filed Saturday against the 180-pound Miss Madigan.

"Their mouths somehow or another got against my neck and seemed to be telling me to hold them tighter," she said.

She said she would hold the babies tighter and they would get limp. Then, she said, she would put them back in their beds.

Investigation into the three deaths began Thursday night when Gail Nemmers, 2, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Nemmers, was found dead in her bed.

It was the second death of one of Mr. and Mrs Nemmers' children while Miss Madigan was baby sitting, the police chief said.

Miss Madigan was questioned Thursday night and went into hysterics, Lucas said. Friday she signed a statement concerning the deaths, he said.

In the statement, the police chief said, Miss Madigan stated she was sitting with Karen Sue Nemmers, 22 months, last July 12 when the child died.

The baby's death was listed by the medical examiner as a congenital heart disease.

The next night July 13, Miss Madigan said she was sitting with Michael Fitzpatrick, 4-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs Russell Fitzpatrick, when he died. His death was listed as a respiratory ailment.

Heavy Cloud Of Chemical Fumes Threatens Village

INMAN, S. C. (AP)—A smog cloud filled with deadly chemical fumes began to lift here Friday afternoon lessening danger to residents in the vicinity of a chemical plant destroyed by fire and a series of explosions.

About 30 families were evacuated temporarily from the area before noon after Col. F. E. Hankinson, Spartanburg County Civil Defense director, was advised that the fumes were dangerous.

The dense and highly toxic chemical fumes hugged the ground in an overcast throughout the night and most of the day. About 2:30 p.m. the weather began to clear and the smog began to lift. For a while it drifted to the northwest then began to move to the southwest which took it over lightly populated rural areas.

Officials warned that the danger from the cloud was not over.

John Michener of the Deering Milliken Research Corp. at Spartanburg, 15 miles to the east, said the chemical content of the fumes was changing and now contained phosphorous di-chloride, a poison. He said inhaling it could cause anything from nausea to death.

Two workers of the California Chemical Co. plant were diluting methyl parathion with a DDT solution used to spray cotton crops Thursday night when the first explosion occurred.

The men escaped unharmed, but the plant, a division of Standard Oil Co., was destroyed by fire and a series of colorful explosions.

Firemen reported that several chemical fires were controlled shortly after noon, leaving the dense cloud the major problem.

The plant is situated in an industrial section near a railroad track, away from the main part of the town, whose 4,000 people live in Inman and Inman Mills. The two communities flank U. S. 176.

AWOL Marine Cult Leader Apprehended

Rifles, Ammo, Seized In Raid To Get Deserter

LOUISVILLE, Ill. (AP)—Spearheaded by an armored car, more than 100 policemen and FBI agents smashed their way into an estate Friday and seized religious leader John R. Harrell, 16 of his followers, and a young Marine deserter he had granted refuge.

No shots were fired in the predawn raid, which came after two days of unsuccessful efforts to talk the Marine into returning to Camp Lejeune, N.C. He was declared a deserter May 29.

Harboring Deserter

They were to be arraigned before a U.S. commissioner in East St. Louis, Ill., 90 miles to the West.

Davis, a private, entered the Marines on Oct. 6, 1960, and was transferred to Camp Lejeune after recruit training at Parris Island, S.C. He was attached to the famed 2nd Marine Division.

Davis was taken into custody by military authorities in East St. Louis and brought to St. Louis where he was to be turned over to the Marine Corps Saturday. He was manacled to a military policeman when he left Harrell and the others.

Harrell, 38, and Davis, son of a Greenville, Pa., grocery chain manager, talked freely with reporters while awaiting arraignment.

Harrell, gaudily dressed in cowboy boots, khaki trousers and a lavender sport shirt, reiterated he gave sanctuary to Davis after the lad told him tales of immorality, debauchery and atheism in the Marine Corps.

"We want the world to see what is happening in our training camps," said Harrell, whose hair cascades almost to his shoulders. "The conditions in our train-

Peace Corps Fund Request Wins Approval

By GARDNER L. BRIDGE

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy's request for $40 million to put the Peace Corps in business won Senate Foreign Relations Committee approval Friday.

The committee rejected 11-6 a move to cut the first annual authorization to $25 million and then approved the full amount 14-0, with 3 members abstaining.

The Peace Corps, which is recruiting and training volunteers for work in underdeveloped countries, was described at the Senate session as having great merit. But in a House hearing, it was denounced as a huge boondoggle.

That criticism was voiced by Rep. H. R. Gross, R-Iowa. Gross accused the Peace Corps director, R. Sargent Shriver, of violating federal lobbying laws by promoting the program in breakfasts with congressmen.

Gross told Shriver during a hearing at a House Civil Service subcommittee that he was making a complaint to the Justice Department about his activities.

He noted that Shriver is a brother-in-law of both President Kennedy and Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy

The hearing was on a bill to create 28 top-paying jobs on the federal payroll for administrators.

Shriver acknowledged meeting with congressmen at breakfast. But he said the breakfasts were paid for with private funds and contended there was nothing wrong in what he did.

The 59-foot operational model of the army-developed Jupiter was scheduled to go 1,500 miles into the Atlantic.

The shot, at 8:19 p.m. EDT, appeared to be perfect. Its flaming tail could be seen for more than five minutes in the early evening sky.

Italian crews have been in the United States almost a year getting experience in handling countdown and firing operations for Jupiter.

This was the second firing here by the Italians, who are members of the 36th aerobrigade Jupiter missile groups, a vital link in the Italian armed forces assigned to NATO. The group has had operational Jupiters for several months.

Purpose of the test Friday night was to give the NATO forces more experience in the Jupiter weapons system and in use of the ground support equipment.

Administration Asks Congress For Action On Air Hijackings

By STANLEY MEISLER

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Kennedy administration asked Congress Friday to meet the menace of "air drunks, flying fools, and spies in the sky" by passing a law to make airline hijacking punishable by life imprisonment.

This would put airline hijacking in the same class of crime as piracy on the high seas.

The administration views were presented to Congress by Najeeb E. Halaby, the Federal Aviation Agency administrator.

He opened hearings of the Senate Aviation subcommittee by testifying that the proposed legislation would bring the President, the FBI, the Border Patrol, the FAA, and other federal agencies into the battle against hijackers.

Citing Thursday's hijacking in El Paso, Tex., Halaby said that, if Congress passes the new law, no longer would "a defenseless girl, a preoccupied crew, or local police" be the only barriers against would-be hijackers.

No Existing Law

At present, no federal law covers such hijacking. Leon Bearden, 38, and his son, Cody, 16, arrested in El Paso Thursday, were charged with violating the federal kidnaping law.

It also is difficult to charge hijackers under state law, like those covering assault. For one thing, it is very hard to figure out where the plane was flying when the crime was committed. For another, the arrested man likely would land in a state different from the one in which he committed his crime, making extradition action necessary.

Reviewing this situation, John H. Warner, general counsel of the Civil Aeronautics Board, told the subcommittee: "Under present conditions of high speed air transportation, state criminal laws are no longer adequate as a deterrent to crimes on board aircraft."

Halaby, discussing the recent series of hijackings, said the last three cases evidently were carried out by foolish men who felt by some "heroic act they could make some progress in their individual lives — psychopathic as they may be."

Spy In The Sky

But Halaby said there also is the problem of the "airborne subversive, the spy in the sky," who may hijack a plane at the bidding of a foreign government or under a compulsion to humiliate the United States.

In this regard, Halaby said the government has no positive evidence of any connection between Thursday's hijacking and Prime Minister Fidel Castro's Cuban regime.

Leonard Gilman, the Border Patrol officer credited with capturing Bearden, testified that the man had told him, "This was not a political conspiracy, he had no conversations with Castro, and merely wanted transportation on the airplane he hijacked."

Nevertheless, Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois told the Senate, "I don't swallow any explanation that this hijacking had no identity with this festering sore some 90 miles off our own shore."

He said he could not accept the

Baby Sitter Admits Killing Three Children

DUBUQUE, Iowa (AP)—A baby sitter, who said she liked to hold babies tightly, admitted Friday she was sitting with three children at the time of their deaths, police said.

One father and mother lost both of their daughters.

Police Chief Percy Lucas said Miss Mary Madigan, 29, admitted in a signed statement that in all three cases she was holding the babies in her arms when they died. County Atty. Robert Oeth said "some sort of homocide charge" would be filed Saturday against the 180-pound Miss Madigan.

"Their mouths somehow or another got against my neck and seemed to be telling me to hold them tighter," she said.

She said she would hold the babies tighter and they would get limp. Then, she said, she would put them back in their beds.

Investigation into the three deaths began Thursday night when Gail Nemmers, 2, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Nemmers, was found dead in her bed.

It was the second death of one of Mr. and Mrs Nemmers' children while Miss Madigan was baby sitting, the police chief said.

Miss Madigan was questioned Thursday night and went into hysterics, Lucas said. Friday she signed a statement concerning the deaths, he said.

In the statement, the police chief said, Miss Madigan stated she was sitting with Karen Sue Nemmers, 22 months, last July 12 when the child died.

The baby's death was listed by the medical examiner as a congenital heart disease.

The next night July 13, Miss Madigan said she was sitting with Michael Fitzpatrick, 4-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs Russel Fitzpatrick, when he died. His death was listed as a respiratory ailment.

Heavy Cloud Of Chemical Fumes Threatens Village

INMAN, S. C. (AP)—A smog cloud filled with deadly chemical fumes began to lift here Friday afternoon lessening danger to residents in the vicinity of a chemical plant destroyed by fire and a series of explosions.

About 30 families were evacuated temporarily from the area before noon after Col. F. E. Hankinson, Spartanburg County Civil Defense director, was advised that the fumes were dangerous.

The dense and highly toxic chemical fumes hugged the ground in an overcast throughout the night and most of the day. About 2:30 p.m. the weather began to clear and the smog began to lift. For a while it drifted to the northwest then began to move to the southwest which took it over lightly populated rural areas.

John Michener of the Deering Milliken Research Corp. at Spartanburg, 15 miles to the east, said the chemical content of the fumes was changing and now contained phosphorous di-chloride, a poison. He said inhaling it could cause anything from nausea to death.

Two workers of the California Chemical Co. plant were diluting methyl parathion with a DDT solution used to spray cotton crops Thursday night when the first explosion occurred.

The men escaped unharmed, but the plant, a division of Standard Oil Co., was destroyed by fire and a series of colorful explosions.

Firemen reported that several chemical fires were controlled shortly after noon, leaving the dense cloud the major problem.

The plant is situated in an industrial section near a railroad track, away from the main part of the town, whose 4,000 people live in Inman and Inman Mills. The two communities flank U. S. 176.

AWOL Marine Cult Leader Apprehended

LOUISVILLE, Ill. (AP)—Spearheaded by an armored car, more than 100 policemen and FBI agents smashed their way into an estate Friday and seized religious leader John R. Harrell, 16 of his followers, and a young Marine deserter he had granted refuge.

No shots were fired in the predawn raid, which came after two days of unsuccessful efforts to talk the Marine into returning to Camp Lejeune, N.C. He was declared a deserter May 29.

Harboring Deserter

They were to be arraigned before a U.S. commissioner in East St. Louis, Ill., 90 miles to the West.

Davis, a private, entered the Marines on Oct. 6, 1960, and was transferred to Camp Lejeune after recruit training at Parris Island, S.C. He was attached to the famed 2nd Marine Division.

Davis was taken into custody by military authorities in East St. Louis and brought to St. Louis where he was to be turned over to the Marine Corps Saturday. He was manacled to a military policeman when he left Harrell and the others.

Harrell, 38, and Davis, son of a Greenville, Pa., grocery chain manager, talked freely with reporters while awaiting arraignment.

Harrell, gaudily dressed in cowboy boots, khaki trousers and a lavender sport shirt, reiterated he gave sanctuary to Davis after the lad told him tales of immorality, debauchery and atheism in the Marine Corps.

"We want the world to see what is happening in our training camps," said Harrell, whose hair cascades almost to his shoulders. "The conditions in our train-

Peace Corps Fund Request Wins Approval

By GARDNER L. BRIDGE

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy's request for $40 million to put the Peace Corps in business won Senate Foreign Relations Committee approval Friday.

The committee rejected 11-6 a move to cut the first annual authorization to $25 million and then approved the full amount 14-0, with 3 members abstaining.

The Peace Corps, which is recruiting and training volunteers for work in underdeveloped countries, was described at the Senate session as having great merit. But in a House hearing, it was denounced as a huge boondoggle.

That criticism was voiced by Rep. H. R. Gross, R-Iowa. Gross accused the Peace Corps director, R. Sargent Shriver, of violating federal lobbying laws by promoting the program in breakfasts with congressmen.

Gross told Shriver during a hearing at a House Civil Service subcommittee that he was making a complaint to the Justice Department about his activities.

He noted that Shriver is a brother-in-law of both President Kennedy and Atty. Gen Robert F. Kennedy

The hearing was on a bill to create 28 top-paying jobs on the federal payroll for administrators.

Shriver acknowledged meeting with congressmen at breakfast. But he said the breakfasts were paid for with private funds and contended there was nothing wrong in what he did.

Communists To Adopt New Party Rules

MOSCOW (AP) — The Communist party of the Soviet Union published new rules Saturday that outlaw the "cult of the personality."

The new rules, to be adopted at a party congress in October, supersede the ones adopted at the 20th party congress in 1959.

The new rules also provide for a regular turnover in the membership of the Central Committee and of regional central committees, with no member—except those of "acknowledged authority"—allowed to have more than three successive terms.

The section dealing with the cult of the personality read like this:

"The cult of the personality and all the violations of inner party democracy connected with it cannot be tolerated in the party. They are incompatible with the Leninist principles of party life."

The principle of collective leadership was declared the "highest principle of leadership."

The cult of the personality was publicly attacked for the first time in the Soviet Union in 1956 by Premier Khrushchev, who declared the late Premier Stalin harmed the Soviet Union by encouraging such a cult to be built around him. The new rules represent the first formal attempt to eradicate this from the party.

idea that a "two-bit petty criminal" would hijack a $5-million jet airliner simply on "a great urge to go to Cuba."

Federal Offense

The legislation by Halaby and the administration, besides making hijacking a crime like piracy, would make it a federal offense to assault, intimidate, threaten, or interfere with airline crews and to carry a deadly weapon aboard a plane.

Attacks on the crew would be punished by sentences up to 20 years imprisonment and a $10,000 fine. If a deadly weapon was used or brandished in the assault, a life sentence could be handed down. Anyone convicted of carrying a weapon aboard the plane would be subject to a $1,000 fine.

Halaby also reviewed for the subcommittee actions taken by the FAA to prevent any more hijacking.

Guns And Locked Doors

He said the agency has authorized airlines to arm their crews or put armed guards in planes. It also has advised them to lock cockpit doors from the inside.

Halaby added that if nothing else works, the FAA may have to resort some day to police inspection of passengers.

The administration-backed legislation also drew support from the CAB, the Air Line Pilots Association, the Flight Engineers International Association, and Border Patrolman Gilman.

Gilman also said the FAA proposal to arm crewmen might be a great deterrent to hijackers like the Beardens, although perhaps not to organized hijacking rings.

Request Made In 1957

John C. Carroll, first vice president of the Air Line Pilots Association, said his union asked the federal government in 1957 to authorize pilots to carry arms.

Carroll also said, "There seems to be an organized conspiracy to forcibly take control of a large number of our commercial airlines." He did not elaborate on this remark, however, in his prepared testimony.

Harry S. O'Brien, executive vice president of the Flight Engineers Association, was not pleased with the authority to arm crews.

"We think it would be a simple matter for an airborne Blackbeard to point a gun at the head of a stewardess or a passenger and force the crew to comply with their orders," he said.

Court Rules Liquor Law Is Valid

UPPER MARLBORO, Md. (AP) — A new Maryland law aimed at closing the cut-rate liquor department of a Gem Department Store was upheld Friday by Prince Georges County Circuit Court.

Judge Ralph W. Powers ruled in favor of the county liquor board, which held that Ost Liquors, Inc., located in the Gem store at Chillum, is operating in violation of the law, passed by the 1961 Maryland general assembly.

Under the law, a package store liquor license cannot be used by an establishment that "restricts the sale of alcoholic beverages to any specific group or limited membership."

Gem patrons must be active or retired government employes. They are entitled to shop in Gem stores upon purchase of a $3 membership card.

In his five-page opinion, Judge Powers said the law is not essentially arbitrary and cannot be declared unconstitutional because it results in some inequality.

Judge Powers disagreed with arguments by Blair H Smith, attorney for Ost, who claimed the law, among other things, was unconstitutional because it was retroactive.

The judge said the law does not put Ost out of business, and that the store may utilize its investment by opening its stock to all customers and continue to sell at prices lower than other stores in the area.

Cabinet Meeting

He met with the group from 10:03 to 10:55 a.m. and conferred privately afterward with some of the individual members.

Asked if the meeting dealt with any single subject, Associate Presidential News Secretary Andrew T. Hatcher replied only that it had discussed "several matters."

Singing, Sawing Prisoners Make Escape Attempt

UPPER MARLBORO, Md. (AP) — Jailer Joe Watson learned Friday what all that noisy singing was about that disturbed him at the Prince Georges County jail Thursday night.

A guard discovered five prisoners had sung and sawed their way out of a cell and were about to saw their way to freedom.

For nearly 12 hours the quintet sawed away to the accompaniment of such raucus singing that their efforts were undetected Watson said that several times he ordered the men to pipe down but visited the cell area only once.

Sheriff J. Lee Ball said the prisoners had been moved to that particular cell, usually reserved for drunks, because they had become disorderly in another portion of the jail.

The men used a dozen-hacksaw blades that Ball believes were smuggled into the jail and hidden in a cell light fixture.

At 8 a.m. Friday a new guard came on duty and found two of the prisoners in a hallway, singing and sawing away at a window that connected them with the outside world. But then the concert ended.

The prisoners, neld on robbery and other charges, were identified by the sheriff as Raymond Rudolf, 22, Donald Gasch, 25, Robert G. Isenberg, 17, John Zuronski, 18, and Steven Smith, 22.

ROCK HALL, Md. (AP) — A Chestertown, Md. electrical worker was killed in this Kent County community when he accidentally touched a wire carrying 24,000 volts.

State Police identified the victim as Christian A. Myers, 59, an employe of the Chestertown Electric Light and Power Co. Myers was working at a local sub-station at the time of the accident Thursday.

BALTIMORE (AP) — A man tentatively identified as Mathias Forst, a 59-year-old bookkeeper at Sibley Memorial Hospital in Washington, was recovered Friday from Deep Creek in suburban Essex.

In Washington, Mrs. Forst said her husband was gone from home when she awakened Friday morning. Dr. Melvin Davis, Baltimore County medical examiner, said Forst drowned.

BALTIMORE (AP) — A five-year sentence in the Maryland Penitentiary was imposed Friday on Charles Sykes Jr. of Baltimore, convicted of a break-in three weeks ago at a Prudential Savings and Loan Association office on Baltimore's near north side. Police said he threw a brick through a front window.

CATONSVILLE, Md. (AP) — Neal C. Wilson, secretary of the religious liberty department of the Columbia Union Conference of Seventh-day Adventists, told an adventists conference Friday the group was strongly opposed to any federal aid to parochial schools.

"State aid to church schools is a clear violation of the long-standing principle of the separation of church and state," he said at the annual summer meeting of the Chesapeake Area Seventh-day Adventists. The meeting ends Saturday.

BEL AIR, Md. (AP) — State Police said Friday they were holding for questioning a 28-year-old Harford County man arrested in connection with the rape of a 5-year-old Joppa girl. The child was reported in fair condition at Harford Memorial Hospital at Havre de Grace.

BALTIMORE (AP)—More than 1,200 Baltimore electricians are scheduled to vote Saturday whether to end a 47-day old strike or to continue the walkout against 25 contractors in the Baltimore metropolitan area.

The electricians, members of Local 28 of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, have been advised by the international they will be dismissed from the parent union if they fail to end the strike.

The international contended the local struck without first obtaining permission from the parent group and submitting the dispute for a new contract to negotiation between a committee of the international and the contractors.

BALTIMORE (AP)—Police Friday searched for a 51-year-old longshoreman in connection with the fatal shooting of a tavern customer who was killed Thursday night while drinking in a bar.

The victim, Daniel Haines, 42, Baltimore, died at Provident Hospital shortly after he was shot once in the right shoulder by a Luger-toting gunman.

Tawes Dedicates First Fallout Shelter On Shore

OCEAN CITY, Md. (AP) — Gov. Tawes Friday dedicated a small, family-size fallout shelter at Ocean City and said it "has significance beyond proportions of size."

"I think most Americans will agree that we have not taken Civil Defense seriously enough in this country," he said. "It is encouraging, therefore, to note the greater emphasis that is being placed on it by our federal government."

State and local governments and individuals must also take more interest in preparing for the possibilities of a nuclear war, he said.

"If our enemies are convinced that a large part of our population would survive the initial blow and be prepared to make a strong counterattack, there would be far less temptation to strike," the governor added.

38 Cases Polio Reported In Week

ATLANTA (UPI)—Thirty-eight cases of polio were reported in the United States last week—more than three times the occurrence of polio for the previous week, the Federal Communicable Disease Center said Friday.

"Although this incidence continues well below that of previous years," the public health service facility reported, this represents a high in reported cases thus far this year."

Three paralytic cases occurred in Frederick County, Md., bringing to six the number of paralytic cases reported in the county for the year, the center said.

Three more paralytic cases were reported in the Seattle, Wash., area where a total of five have occurred since April.

Harrell said he was prepared for an armed siege, but ordered his men not to fire on the raiders "because we had no such instructions from the Lord."

The wooden gate was defended by two young men, one armed with a rifle, the other with a pistol. Trooper Wilfred Rauch, who was in the armored car, shouted at them to drop their guns

When they didn't obey Rauch gunned the vehicle through the gate and he and other officers leaped out and disarmed the pair.

Davis showed wear and tear from the brief fight he put up when raiders found him in a cabin at the rear of the estate. He wore only dark trousers, ripped up one leg.

While seated in the U S. marshal's office in East St. Louis, Davis said his father, Ted Davis, came to see him last Sunday and advised him to return to Camp Lejeune.

"I didn't want to take his advice," said Davis, who was handcuffed to Harrell.

He said the agency has authorized airlines to arm their crews or put armed guards in planes. It also has advised them to lock cockpit doors from the inside.

Halaby added that if nothing else works, the FAA may have to resort some day to police inspection of passengers.

The administration-backed legislation also drew support from the CAB, the Air Line Pilots Association, the Flight Engineers International Association, and Border Patrolman Gilman.

Gilman also said the FAA proposal to arm crewmen might be a great deterrent to hijackers like the Beardens, although perhaps not to organized hijacking rings.

Request Made In 1957

John C. Carroll, first vice president of the Air Line Pilots Association, said his union asked the federal government in 1957 to authorize pilots to carry arms.

Carroll also said, "There seems to be an organized conspiracy to forcibly take control of a large number of our commercial airlines." He did not elaborate on this remark, however, in his prepared testimony.

Harry S. O'Brien, executive vice president of the Flight Engineers Association, was not pleased with the authority to arm crews.

"We think it would be a simple matter for an airborne Blackbeard to point a gun at the head of a stewardess or a passenger and force the crew to comply with their orders," he said.

Court Rules Liquor Law Is Valid

UPPER MARLBORO, Md. (AP) — A new Maryland law aimed at closing the cut-rate liquor department of a Gem Department Store was upheld Friday by Prince Georges County Circuit Court.

Judge Ralph W. Powers ruled in favor of the county liquor board, which held that Ost Liquors, Inc., located in the Gem store at Chillum, is operating in violation of the law, passed by the 1961 Maryland general assembly.

Under the law, a package store liquor license cannot be used by an establishment that "restricts the sale of alcoholic beverages to any specific group or limited membership."

Gem patrons must be active or retired government employes. They are entitled to shop in Gem stores upon purchase of a $3 membership card.

In his five-page opinion, Judge Powers said the law is not essentially arbitrary and cannot be declared unconstitutional because it results in some inequality.

Judge Powers disagreed with arguments by Blair H Smith, attorney for Ost, who claimed the law, among other things, was unconstitutional because it was retroactive.

The judge said the law does not put Ost out of business, and that the store may utilize its investment by opening its stock to all customers and continue to sell at prices lower than other stores in the area.

Cabinet Meeting

He met with the group from 10:03 to 10:55 a.m. and conferred privately afterward with some of the individual members.

Asked if the meeting dealt with any single subject, Associate Presidential News Secretary Andrew T. Hatcher replied only that it had discussed "several matters."

Singing, Sawing Prisoners Make Escape Attempt

UPPER MARLBORO, Md. (AP) — Jailer Joe Watson learned Friday what all that noisy singing was about that disturbed him at the Prince Georges County jail Thursday night.

A guard discovered five prisoners had sung and sawed their way out of a cell and were about to saw their way to freedom.

For nearly 12 hours the quintet sawed away to the accompaniment of such raucus singing that their efforts were undetected. Watson said that several times he ordered the men to pipe down but visited the cell area only once.

Sheriff J. Lee Ball said the prisoners had been moved to that particular cell, usually reserved for drunks, because they had become disorderly in another portion of the jail.

The men used a dozen-hacksaw blades that Ball believes were smuggled into the jail and hidden in a cell light fixture.

At 8 a.m. Friday a new guard came on duty and found two of the prisoners in a hallway, singing and sawing away at a window that connected them with the outside world. But then the concert ended.

The prisoners, held on robbery and other charges, were identified by the sheriff as Raymond Rudolf, 22, Donald Gasch, 25, Robert G. Isenberg, 17, John Zuronski, 18, and Steven Smith, 22.

Church Operated Educational Machinery Constitutes 13 Per Cent Of U.S. Schools

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
Associated Press Religion Writer

They study the same subjects. They gripe with equal fervor about homework and tests. Their playgrounds at recess are similarly filled with shouts and barked knees. They're alike in most ways, all kids, going to school.

Yet, for pupils in parochial and public schools, there is a difference.

Mainly, it's one of atmosphere.

In the current controversy on federal aid to education, and whether church-run schools should share in it, questions often arise over just what goes on in the parochial institutions, and just what distinguishes them.

There are about 16,400 church-operated elementary and high schools in this country with an enrollment totalling 5,600,000 compared to 125,000 public schools attended by 36,305,000 children.

The parochial educational machinery is about 13 per cent of the total operation in America. Protestants, chiefly Lutherans and Seventh-day Adventists, run 3,350 schools, with 295,423 pupils.

By far the largest, and fastest growing system, however, is that of the Roman Catholic Church—a total of 12,993 schools enrolling 5,300,000 children across the country, the biggest parochial system in the world.

It has mushroomed in the modern era, multiplying six and a half times in size since the turn of the century, while public schools have only doubled. One of every seven American children now goes to a parochial school.

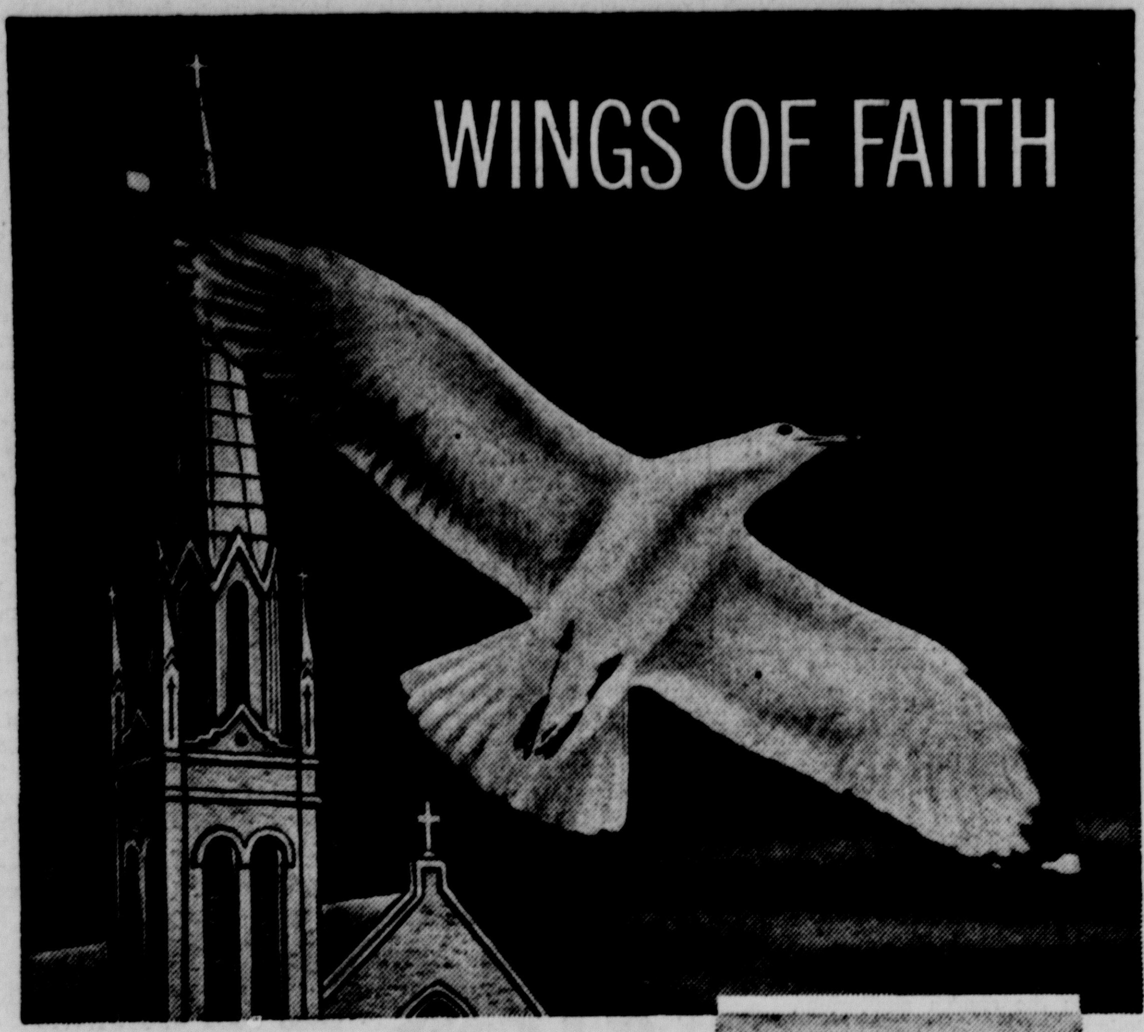
Their classwork follows the same general lines as public schools. What sets it apart is more in the climate than in the curricula.

It's a subtle, largely unspoken element, that invests each school day with a recognition of God's sovereignty over life and learning and an awareness of supernatural realities as well as the natural.

"The child is a citizen of two worlds," says the Education Department of the National Catholic Welfare Conference. "It is the educator's responsibility to equip him to fulfill this dual role."

For the most part, however, the parochial schools spend their time like any other school, bearing down on such subjects as mathematics, geography, language and history. They're not inflated Sunday Schools or catechism classes.

In fact, only 30 minutes a day, on the average nationally, is devoted to religious instruction.



WHO does not marvel at the flight of a bird? The roaring jet does not seem such a miracle. It cannot fly with the same grace and beauty and ease.

Every bird must learn to fly. The mother bird pushes her fledgling out of the nest. The young bird falls helplessly until its wings discover the invisible support of the air.

If our lives are to rise beyond frail human nature, we too must learn to fly . . . on wings of faith. We must discover the invisible support of God's presence and power.

Come to Church next Sunday. You can find there the invisible support of God.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Church Operated Educational Machinery Constitutes 13 Per Cent Of U.S. Schools

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
Associated Press Religion Writer

They study the same subjects. They gripe with equal fervor about homework and tests. Their playgrounds at recess are similarly filled with shouts and barked knees. They're alike in most ways, all kids, going to school.

Yet, for pupils in parochial and public schools, there is a difference.

Mainly, it's one of atmosphere.

In the current controversy on federal aid to education, and whether church-run schools should share in it, questions often arise over just what goes on in the parochial institutions, and just what distinguishes them.

There are about 16,400 church-operated elementary and high schools in this country with an enrollment totalling 5,600,000 compared to 125,000 public schools attended by 36,305,000 children.

The parochial educational machinery is about 13 per cent of the total operation in America. Protestants, chiefly Lutherans and Seventh-day Adventists, run 3,350 schools, with 295,423 pupils.

By far the largest, and fastest growing system, however, is that of the Roman Catholic Church—a total of 12,993 schools enrolling 5,300,000 children across the country, the biggest parochial system in the world.

It has mushroomed in the modern era, multiplying six and a half times in size since the turn of the century, while public schools have only doubled. One of every seven American children now goes to a parochial school.

Their classwork follows the same general lines as public schools. What sets it apart is more in the climate than in the curricula.

It's a subtle, largely unspoken element, that invests each school day with a recognition of God's sovereignty over life and learning and an awareness of supernatural realities as well as the natural.

"The child is a citizen of two worlds," says the Education Department of the National Catholic Welfare Conference. "It is the educator's responsibility to equip him to fulfill this dual role."

For the most part, however, the parochial schools spend their time like any other school, bearing down on such subjects as mathematics, geography, language and history. They're not inflated Sunday Schools or catechism classes.

WHO does not marvel at the flight of a bird? The roaring jet does not seem such a miracle. It cannot fly with the same grace and beauty and ease.

Every bird must learn to fly. The mother bird pushes her fledgling out of the nest. The young bird falls helplessly until its wings discover the invisible support of the air.

If our lives are to rise beyond frail human nature, we too must learn to fly . . . on wings of faith. We must discover the invisible support of God's presence and power.

Come to Church next Sunday. You can find there the invisible support of God.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Discover A New Side Of Your Personality

Many people have more talent than they realize. Not great talent, always, but a side to themselves that can be developed wonderfully with that special satisfaction that's found in creative effort.

Painting may bring more happy hours and compliments from the family than gallery invitations to put on a one-man show.

Piano lessons may develop accompanists for group singing rather than concert artists.

And other self-expression may be less than spectacular—working in clay, home decorating, millinery creation, needlework with real style, jewelry making, and so many others for men and for women — but all of them can be engaged in on an amateur basis with immense enthusiasm and satisfaction and no little success.

Way back in the minds of many mature people is the idea that had things been different, they might have been artists or writers or musicians. It might have been true, but even when the time is past for a professional career, it's a thrill to discover that the suspected talent, in any degree was really there.

Why not find out what you can do? You'll have plenty of company, no matter what you take up. One of the benefits of this increased leisure of ours is that so many people are striking out in intriguing new directions. Or it may be that older people are growing younger all the time — they're certainly embarking on new ventures as they never did before. It's never too late to expand horizons, and to make yourself a more interested and interesting person.

Three Damage Suits Settled Out Of Court

A number of damage suits involving children which had been filed in Circuit Court have been marked settled.

The boy was hurt when the school bus struck a culvert as it entered the Parkside School grounds. The suit was settled for $400.

Clarence W. Fields filed suit through his mother, Mrs. Ella B. Fields, 412 Cumberland Street, against Lewis W. Staubs, 719 Virginia Avenue.

The boy was a passenger in Staubs' car when it was involved in an accident last April. The suit was settled for $215.85.

Carolyn Sue Ahern filed suit through her parents, Carlton R. and Sara Mase Ahern, 209 Rock Street, Westernport against Thomas J. Groves, also of Westernport.

The child was sled riding last January when the Groves car struck her. The child was injured. The case was settled for $300.

New Insurance Plan Explained

James B. Reinhart, local insurance company official, yesterday explained to the Allegany County Board of Commissioners a new program for insuring county buildings and their contents under one master policy with a saving in premium cost to the county.

Reinhart explained that the insurance would be divided among the various agents as in the past but the county would have only one master policy, would have to pay only one bill and in case a claim was made under the insurance only one check would be issued to the county.

As an example, Reinhart stated that the fire insurance coverage on $1,700,000 worth of buildings and contents has been costing $4,600 annually but under the new plan the cost would only be $3,700 with the worth of the buildings and contents listed at $83,000 more.

Reinhart also said the co-insurance clause would also be eliminated, provided the coverage was adequate and this would give the county better protection. Reinhart said that the policy would be issued on an annual basis instead of the five-year plan used in the past.

The county has prepaid insurance coverage of almost $10,000 and the county will be able to apply this amount to the coverage upcoming.

Tickets not presented as prizes will be turned over to the Allegany County League for Crippled Children for distributoin.

Operations of the Auxiliary are under direction of Sgt. John H. Newhouse of the City Police Department, who also serves as instructor of the unit.

Driver Injured When Rig Gets Out Of Control

Admitted to Potomac Valley Hospital, Keyser, where he underwent observation yesterday was Gordon Potts, 50, of Oronogo, Mo.

The driver was reported in satisfactory condition at noon yesterday.

The rig loaded with furniture and owned by the Allied Van Lines came to a rest at 9:15 a. m. near the Fred Bosley farm.

The resistance of steel to atmospheric corrosion is improved by the addition of alloying elements such as nickel and copper.

SRC Plans To Clear Properties For Road Projects

The State Roads Commission, in a move to save tax dollars, has announced it is disposing of a total of 40 houses in the Cumberland region purchased for future highway construction.

The properties, all in the low priced field and some of them considered substandard residences, have to be cleared for Thruway construction and other highway projects.

Carl E. Wyant, chief of the commission's property management section, listed the following factors as principal reasons for disposing of the structures at this time:

If the state gluts the market with properties to be cleared at one time, the price a salvager will pay tends to be less than if the houses were put on the market gradually and in smaller quantities at one time.

Maintenance of the houses, some of which are being occupied on a rental basis, becomes a larger budget item each year they remain standing. The 40 properties involved are only a portion of those needed to be cleared for highway construction in Cumberland.

If all of them were put on the salvage market at one time, for example, household items salvaged would bring a lower price than if fewer items were available at different times.

Thus, the present plan of disposing of the properties gradually, naturally will realize a substantial savings for the taxpayers.

In addition, as the houses get older they need more maintenance and this, too, adds to the tax bill. If the properties were cleared, naturally there would be no structural maintenance required.

Construction already has begun on portions of the Thruway project. More is scheduled for next year and all of it will be under contract by 1965. The Cumberland Thruway is an elevated highway which will carry U. S. Route 40 over the city.

Modernization of Route 40 as far west as Keyser's Ridge is part of the State Road Commission's accelerated program of primary highway construction for a period ending in 1965. Contracts in other sections of Allegany County on Route 40 are already under construction.

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN: The letter from the Phi Beta Kappa wife with the dirty neck who thought housework was for horses prompted me to write.

I'm distressed by the vast numbers of young people who share her views. My niece sits around reading Melville and Kant while the ash trays spill over. When her chemist husband comes home for dinner he brings it with him—in a paper bag. He also changes the baby and straightens up the place.

Our son is engaged to the same type and we fear for the future. Don't you think a girl who spends four years in college should be taught how to make a bed, boil potatoes and fix a decent pot of coffee? Why don't they learn practical things in college instead of a lot of nonsense? — DOWN TO EARTH

DEAR DOWN: Higher education has a nobler purpose than teaching the nuts and bolts of homemaking. If a girl doesn't know how to make a bed or boil potatoes by the time she gets to college, her mother goofed.

No wife should read all day and ignore the fundamental domestic responsibilities. Such a wife probably had a mother who was either crazy-clean or a four-door slob. Now about that husband — any man who would bring home his dinner in a paper sack night after night doesn't deserve anything better.

DEAR ANN: How do you tell the girl you plan to marry that you want to be her protector, her advisor, and her moral and physical strength?

Mary is five years younger than I am, and at first I thought her stubbornness was due to her youth, but I'm beginning to wonder if she will ever outgrow it.

Almost every suggestion I make is met with fierce opposition. She says I'm domineering and dictatorial. Every time we have a fight (which is often) she apologizes and says I was right. I was headstrong at 18, too, but I DID learn to accept guidance. Do you think she will? — C. R.

DEAR C. R.: Wake up and smell the coffee, Mister. You can't force "protection, advice and moral and physical strength" on a girl who doesn't want it. And Mary doesn't want it.

What you consider virtues she views as vindictiveness. You need a more pliable Galatea, Pygmalion. Give up.

DEAR ANN: The smut you see in this envelope speaks for itself. I'm ashamed to tell you I found it in my husband's chest of drawers, under the paper lining.

Why would a happily married man and the father of three children spend money on such trash? Please notice the order blanks attached to this junk. Somebody must be making a fortune. The pictures that sell for 50c can't cost more than a few pennies to print.

Shall I speak to him? Is this illegal? Please give me some advice. I'm very upset. — NO NAME

DEAR NO NAME: Tell your husband you found his play toys. Let him know that if he insists on degrading himself he'd better make sure the kids don't find the rubbish.

Companies that sell pornography usually walk the legal tightrope. All trash that comes in the mail should be sent to the postal authorities for investigation. This is a lucrative business and it will continue to flourish so long as sick people continue to support it.

Does almost everyone have a good time but you? If so, send for ANN LANDERS's booklet, "How To Be Well-Liked," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Magazine Urges Blackwater Falls Weekend Trip

Changing Times, the Kiplinger magazine for August, features an article on weekend vacations and gives emphasis to a suggested trip from Washington, D.C. to Blackwater Falls State Park in nearby West Virginia.

The Blackwater Falls trip is one of nine especially recommended in the article which explains how many American travelers are concentrating their vacation trips on weekends.

Blackwater Falls, about 215 miles from Washington, is called by the magazine probably the finest new state park developed in the East. It is pointed out that the park, near Davis, W.Va., lies within one day's drive of Cincinnati, Cleveland and Richmond.

The article points out that Trailways operates a series of weekend tours from Washington in August and during the peak of fall color in October. They follow a route to Frederick, Cumberland and Deep Creek Lake in Western Maryland and return through Winchester and Leesburg, Va.

Home Shelter Interest Shown

A marked interest has been shown recently in Civil Defense activities, particularly the construction of home shelters, according to William G. Barger, director of Civil Defense in Allegany County.

The interest, he explained, followed President Kennedy's talk last week when he outlined the problems facing the nation and called for expansion of the nation's armed forces.

Many calls have been made to the CD headquarters pertaining to the construction of home shelters, Barger said, adding that in quite a few cases persons were interested in combining the plans for proposed construction of new homes.

The CD director called attention to the public display at Fort Hill High School of an exact prototype of the shelter recommended by the Office of Civil Defense and Mobilization.

The shelter was constructed by Allegany and Fort Hill High School students under direction of J. D. Lonnholm, county supervisor of vocational education.

Savings, Loan Bill Suit Is Filed In Court

BALTIMORE (AP)—A suit filed in Baltimore Circuit Court Friday seeks to set aside legislation regulating the savings and loan industry in Maryland.

The declaratory judgment suit was filed by James H. (Jack) Pollack, northwest Baltimore political leader, and the Manor Savings and Loan Association.

The complaint attacks the validity of a bill enacted by the regular 1961 General Assembly and a similar bill enacted by a special session when the first act was threatened by referendum petitions.

The court was asked to declare that the legislature acted "improperly and illegally" in passing the measure at its special session.

It was also asked to declare unconstitutional a certain section of the law dealing with second mortgages.

Other parts of the suit attacked the law on other grounds.

Petitions filed against the law by Pollack and others were aimed at blocking its effective date until a referendum on the matter in November 1962.

The suit filed Friday claims publicity given the petition filing prompted Gov. Tawes to create an "emergency in his own mind" with a result that he called a special session.

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN: The letter from the Phi Beta Kappa wife with the dirty neck who thought housework was for horses prompted me to write.

I'm distressed by the vast numbers of young people who share her views. My niece sits around reading Melville and Kant while the ash trays spill over. When her chemist husband comes home for dinner he brings it with him—in a paper bag. He also changes the baby and straightens up the place.

Our son is engaged to the same type and we fear for the future. Don't you think a girl who spends four years in college should be taught how to make a bed, boil potatoes and fix a decent pot of coffee? Why don't they learn practical things in college instead of a lot of nonsense? — DOWN TO EARTH

DEAR DOWN: Higher education has a nobler purpose than teaching the nuts and bolts of homemaking. If a girl doesn't know how to make a bed or boil potatoes by the time she gets to college, her mother goofed.

No wife should read all day and ignore the fundamental domestic responsibilities. Such a wife probably had a mother who was either crazy-clean or a four-door slob. Now about that husband — any man who would bring home his dinner in a paper sack night after night doesn't deserve anything better.

DEAR ANN: How do you tell the girl you plan to marry that you want to be her protector, her advisor, and her moral and physical strength?

Mary is five years younger than I am, and at first I thought her stubbornness was due to her youth, but I'm beginning to wonder if she will ever outgrow it.

Almost every suggestion I make is met with fierce opposition. She says I'm domineering and dictatorial. Every time we have a fight (which is often) she apologizes and says I was right. I was headstrong at 18, too, but I DID learn to accept guidance. Do you think she will? — C. R.

DEAR C. R.: Wake up and smell the coffee, Mister. You can't force "protection, advice and moral and physical strength" on a girl who doesn't want it. And Mary doesn't want it.

What you consider virtues she views as vindictiveness. You need a more pliable Galatea, Pygmalion. Give up.

DEAR ANN: The smut you see in this envelope speaks for itself. I'm ashamed to tell you I found it in my husband's chest of drawers, under the paper lining.

Why would a happily married man and the father of three children spend money on such trash? Please notice the order blanks attached to this junk. Somebody must be making a fortune. The pictures that sell for 50c can't cost more than a few pennies to print.

Internal Calm On Ivory Coast

The long absence of crisis headlines about the Ivory Coast is a fair indication that former French territory is making good as an independent state. It will be back in the news briefly tomorrow when Assistant Secretary of State G. Mennen Williams stops at the capital, Abidjan, as part of his African tour, to help celebrate the Ivory Coast's first year of independence.

Actually the Ivory Coast had been an autonomous republic since 1958, and with the granting of independence it chose to remain within the French Community. Hundreds of Frenchmen still occupy key positions, and there is no clamor for "Africanization" of the government services.

The internal calm has enabled the Ivory Coast to maintain its economic boom. A population of 3.1 million inhabits a lush land somewhat larger in area than Italy. Coffee, cotton, bananas, wood, diamonds and cattle are the principal products.

Premier Felix Houphouet-Boigny is said to exercise virtually uncontested political control. But his long and determined opposition to premature independence for West African states, and his tendency to regard ties with France as more important than ties among Africans, have provoked the hostility of the political leaders of Guinea and Ghana. On the east, the Ivory Coast shares a 300-mile border with Ghana, on the west a 200-mile border with Guinea.

Border disputes with Guinea last year prompted Houphouet-Boigny to consider arming Ivory Coast farmers in the east. The plan was called off for fear that the farmers might start shooting each other. The trouble now appears to have subsided, but the Ivory Coast's close ties with France may yet prove to be the best guarantee that independence can be preserved against the outside threat of "black imperialism."

These Days

Peking Rejects

The brilliant planners in the State Department, led by Under Secretary of State Chester Bowles, who believe in a two Chinas policy, do not inform the American people that their ideas are rejected not only by Taiwan but by Peking; not only by Chiang Kai-shek but by Mao Tze-tung.

In a broadcast from Peking, aimed at Asia, on July 10, Peking tells the world:

"Under the new scheme, as revealed by the U.S. press, the People's Republic of China and the Kuomintang clique in Taiwan, which has been repudiated by the Chinese people, will be viewed 'as successors' to the China that entered the United Nations at its founding. The Kuomintang clique will be allowed to retain the seats which it has so far usurped in the Security Council and the General Assembly, while the People's Republic of China is 'to apply to the Credentials Committee of the General Assembly for approval to occupy an Assembly seat.' "

Apparently, this plan of a two Chinas was disclosed to Prime Minister Ikeda of Japan during his visit to the United States. The Red Chinese commentator said:

> "Since 1950 the United States has tried to block the discussion by the General Assembly of China's representation through a so-called moratorium. This moratorium has been successful in postponing this issue for about 10 years. In the last three or four years, however, 'there has been an increasing feeling in the United Nations . . . that this moratorium formula will no longer suffice to deal with the question, that there will be more and more delegations who will think that at least the question ought to be debated on its merits and not be simply postponed,' Dean Rusk declared."

According to the Peking broadcast, the United States has labored vigorously to sell this plan to the world. The Red Chinese say that James Harland Cleveland, Assistant Secretary of State for International Organization Affairs, and Adlai Stevenson have been sounding out countries on the plan.

There is not the slightest indication that Red China favors the two Chinas plan. In fact, the broadcast clearly indicates that it is unacceptable. The plan was first advocated by Nehru of India and has found no general acceptance among Chinese but has been held aloft for all to look at. It is one of those compromises which means nothing in the end, creates increasing difficulties, but which give the impression of a desire to meet the other fellow at least half way. Why meet him at all? What is the political or economic necessity of meeting him?

The position is that Formosa asserts that it is the lawful government of China, recognized by treaty and a permanent member of the United Nations possessing the right of veto. Red China does not claim to be a successor to the Kuomintang regime. Rather, it takes the position that it is the lawful government of China by right of revolution. Neither side recognizes the other as coeval or for that matter recognizes the other side at all. To a Chinese, there can be no two Chinas.

> Red China has been ably represented in the United Nations by Soviet Russia, which has made every possible token effort to protect Red China's interest. At no time has Soviet Russia failed to propose the admission of Red China into the United Nations. At no time has Soviet Russia recognized the existence of Nationalist China as lawful. But at no time have the Red Chinese been willing to accept any status of equality with Nationalist China.

We thus have a situation in the making which will lead to further insults to the United States. What Chester Bowles and his associates advocate is not a program that is beneficial to the United States or to Peking or Formosa. It is an Indian program, part of Nehru's effort to assert an untenable leadership in Asia. It is a scheme that denies legitimacy but supports opportunism.

There can be no reason why the American people should accept a plan of this sort and the likelihood is that they will not. Should this Administration attempt to push it far along, it may become a very burdensome political issue for the President to carry. Perhaps that is why an effort was made to get Chester Bowles to resign which, of course, he did not do.

Will McNamara Really Junk The 'New Look'?

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON

The thing to watch for now is whether Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara really carries out his now theory of national defense. This, quite clearly, is the acid test of this remarkable and formidable man.

As previously reported in this space, McNamara has quietly but decisively junked the "new look" defense theory of the Eisenhower administration. The all but exclusive emphasis on nuclear power, which characterized the "new look," has now been abandoned. The nuclear deterrent has most certainly not been downgraded, but the nuclear weapons have been classified as weapons of last resort.

The reasoning behind this very great change was simple and entirely realistic. McNamara and his staff argued that no American President would ever use the nuclear weapons except as weapons of last resort. Therefore, they concluded, it was necessary to have other weapons ready for use in local tests, and even in the first phases of such a global test as the Berlin crisis.

This reasoning is borne out by the record of the Eisenhower administration, which adopted the "new look" theory. Despite a previous N. S. C. directive giving contrary instructions, all planning based on local use of tactical nuclear weapons was promptly ruled out, just as soon as the Quemoy crisis began in 1958. The story was the same when President Eisenhower considered intervening in Laos in 1960.

The "new look" theory and the resulting N. S. C. directives were, in fact, meaningless. In practice, the Eisenhower administration always treated the nuclear weapons strictly as weapons of last resort.

But the reasonableness of the McNamara criticism of the "new look" theory is no guarantee, all the same, that the Secretary of Defense will take the actions demanded by his preferred theory of balanced defense.

This was the old theory of former Secretary of Defense Robert A. Lovvett. It was also the theory defended, while he was Chief of Staff, by Gen. Maxwell Taylor. The Lovett defense program was butchered by Charles E. Wilson; the "new look" theory was adopted; and Gen. Taylor was effectively fired from his post as Army Chief of Staff—all for the same reason. The balanced defense theory demanded too large an investment in men and money.

By men and money, therefore, will be possible to judge whether Secretary McNamara's change of defense theory is a real thing, or a new facade. The most important place to look is clearly the Army; for the right size for the Army is the keypoint in an argument which is now embroiling the theorists, and administrators and uniformed leaders of the Pentagon.

The Army presently consists of 14 divisions, of which three are mere hollow shells. Plans already training divisions — meaning approved will soon transform the hollow shells into fully manned, combat-ready divisions, with their training functions transferred to other outfits.

This gain in real fighting strength will be enough to support the first phase of the Berlin crisis plan approved by President Kennedy. In this phase, three divisions are required to be immediately available for transfer to Western Europe. But it is quite clear that the mere transformation of three training divisions into combat-ready divisions is not the kind of long-run gain that is reuired by the theory of balanced defense.

What gain is really required is now the topic of the conversersy at the Pentagon. The staggering commitments of the U. S., in the SEATO area, the CENTO area, and in Latin America, as well as in Western Europe, are only too plain. But no one is agreed on the size of the strategic reserve needed to discharge these commitments, without primary immediate reliance on nuclear weapons. The Joint Chiefs of Staff, bemused by the "new look," had hardly thought about the problem until now. Hence their answer is unclear.

Will it be enough to increase the Army to 17 combat-ready divisions? Or should there be 21, plus the Marines? Or are 14 divisions enough, if the state of readiness of the reserves and National Guard can only be improved? These are the sorts of numbers now being weighed against the commitments above listed. They are being weighed, one must add, with increasing anxiety, not just because of Berlin but also because of the worsening situation in Southeast Asia.

Being an instinctive economizer McNamara openly leans towards the lowest figures. But if the Army remains at 14 divisions, the difference between the "new look" and the balanced defense theories will not be easily percepitible.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

INACTION — America's space achievements are much in the public mind these days, stimulated by the activities and plans of the Kennedy administration. It comes as something of a shock, therefore, to be brought to the realization that delays in Congress are seriously jeopardizing the work of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

NASA is ready to hire some 5,000 scientists, engineers and other specialized and vitally needed personnel to carry out its enlarged role in the civilian space program. However, Congress has been slow to act on the necessary appropriations bill and the space agency can't turn a wheel. Furthermore, it looks as if several more weeks must pass before there can be any hope for final action on the measure.

It is not unusual for Congress to act slowly on appropriations bills. That body has traditionally been jealous over its control of federal purse strings and likes to examine money requests with a magnifying glass. However, in this instance, speed is essential and the various delays are occuring despite Congressional knowledge that the NASA program might be hurt for months or years to come.

The problem lies in the fact that the national pool of qualified individuals from which NASA must draw its employes is extremely limited. Thus, many who might be inclined toward a government career with NASA are being forced to look elsewhere for employment. Every day that goes by removes highly desirable scientists and engineers from the employment market.

NASA is currently operating on a resolution passed by Congress which permits it to spend each month 1/12 of its 1961 appropriation. This was necessary because Congress failed to approve its money request for this fiscal year by July 1 when it began.

Unlike most other government agencies, NASA is a rapidly growing agency with a rapidly expanding mission. This allotment is sufficient only to retain its present staff and makes no provision for expansion.

Eye Is Like A Camera But Ages More Rapidly

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

The eye is like a camera except that in the human eye, the lens cannot move. This means we have no way to focus when the eyeball is too short (farsightedness) or too long (nearsightedness).

Furthermore, the lens of a good camera is ground to perfection. We develop astigmatism when the outer surface of the eye or the lens is not perfectly spherical. Unless corrective glasses are worn, basketballs look like footballs and the image is distorted as in the funny mirrors in amusement parks.

The eye changes with the passing years, whereas a good camera lasts a long time. It is just as easy to bring a beautiful flower or a distant mountain into focus on the day the camera was bought as 20 years later. The aging eye becomes less elastic and less capable of changing the curvature of the lens.

Most young people have no difficulty shifting their gaze from a house a mile away to reading a book. This is known as accommodation. It beats the best automatic focusing adjuster in a modern camera except that it becomes less efficient with the passing years. It takes longer to focus on printed material after shifting the eyes from a distant object.

Glasses correct defects in visual acuity. After 40, while good distant vision remains, many of us find it difficult to focus on objects close to the eyes. They must be held farther away to be seen clearly. This is corrected with bifocals initially and, for some, trifocals.

In time, greater magnification is needed because the two eyes do not track well together. A single object seen with both eyes is not blended into one (stereopsis). This is bothersome, particularly for close work. The best test for lack of stereopsis is to close one eye and note how much clumsier you are doing close work.

PRESSURE SORE

E. F. writes: What can be done about a sore on the ear caused by using a hearing aid?

REPLY

Consult your physician first to make certain the sore comes from irritation. If so, it may be necessary to go without the aid until healing occurs or get a new earpiece that fits without rubbing.

FOOD APPEASEMENT

Mrs. H. V. writes: Whenever I get upset by things going wrong, I crave food. What can I do to stop this bad habit?

REPLY

Walk around the block until the feeling disappears. If the weather is bad, stay home but chew on celery, carrots, or radishes. Your habit is known as consolation eating.

MILK LEG IN MALE

G. H. K. writes: Can a man develop milk leg?

REPLY

Yes, even though he never becomes an obstetrical case. This colloquial term refers to swelling of an extremity following inflammation of a vein or the lymphatic passageways. The disorder follows surgery, injury, or pregnancy and occasionally develops spontaneously.

EPILEPTIC SEIZURES

K. M. writes: I'm 37 years old and have had epilepsy for 25 years. I used to get attacks every four or five weeks, but now they seem to be coming every two weeks, even though I take pills regularly. Could you tell me why?

REPLY

The medication is not controling the attacks and a larger dosage or a different product may be needed. Modern anti-epilepsy remedies control the seizures in the majority of victims, but not in everyone. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on epilepsy.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

The early days of the New Yorker were highlighted by the running feud between Editor Harold Ross and his coy, self-satisfied star contributor, Alexander Woollcott. Woollcott once completed some intricate testimonial transaction whereby he came into possession of 200 expensive Paris neckties, and in a moment of rare graciousness, told Ross, "Pick one out for yourself." Ross not only picked one for himself, but pilfered forty extra in the process. The next time Mr. W. paid a scheduled visit to the New Yorker office, everybody in the place, from the elevator boy and the receptionist to the statue of John Greenleaf Whittier in the founder's private sanctum, was draped in one of Woollcott's cravats. "Ross," shrieked Woollcott, "you are the kind of poltroon with whom no gentleman can deal!" and flounced off to his island in Vermont—to write another column for the New Yorker.

W. C. Fields, never known as a teetotaller, was suffering from a really stupendous hangover one morning at the Paramount lot. "Let me fix you a Seltzer," suggested his director. "Oh, no, not that," groaned Fields. "I couldn't stand the racket."

Senators Clash Over Gen. LeMay's Alleged Prediction Of Nuclear War

(Editor's Note—Drew Pearson is now in Germany checking firsthand on the Berlin crisis. In his absence his column is being written by his associate, Jack Anderson.)

By Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — That crusty old air warrior, Gen. Curtis LeMay, has been accused of talking recklessly about war. Last week, he almost caused one inside the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

The stony Air Force chief, puffing on his cigar in the Pentagon, was innocently unaware of what was going on. However, he was the object of a brief but furious battle behind the committee's barred doors.

Sen. Wayne Morse, the outspoken Oregonian, started the verbal bombardment by lighting into the brass hats.

"There are only two groups in the world that scare me — the Russian military and the U. S. military," he snorted. "If we don't stop them, they are going to lead mankind to war."

"The U. S. military are stopping the Russians,' he broke in. "They are the only protection we've got."

"I guess," said Morse, "that is what this quote from LeMay means. He said we have got to get out of the cities and head for the mountains of the West. He predicted war by December."

"That isn't true," snapped Symington. "The Senator from Oregon thinks LeMay said that, but he can't offer any proof. Why don't we find out from LeMay whether he said it? Bring him in and put him under oath."

The forthright Oregon Senator, his bushy brows fairly bristling, warned that the world must look beyond military solutions—or the mushrooming might of the two great rival powers will produce a horrible nuclear catastrophe.

"Let me tell you," he cried, "who is going to control the world then—Red China!"

"I am fed up with this attack on the military," retorted Symington.

He praised LeMay's "great public service," described him as the man Soviet Dictator Khrushchev fears most. Symington claimed that LeMay was an advocate of peace not war, that his military strategy has kept the peace.

He not only wouldn't make a warlike statement but wouldn't even think one, Symington said. What's more, he added, "LeMay told me he hadn't made that remark."

"What does the Senator from Missouri think he has proved by that statement?" asked Morse sourly.

Chairman Bill Fulbright of Arkansas rapped the gavel.

"Let's get back to the amendments before the Senators start throwing missiles at each other," he said drily.

"What," asked Symington, "do you think we have been doing?"

Behind The Headlines

Food and Drug investigators are checking on a new teen-age kick. The kids are buying up plastic glue, squeezing it into paper bags, and inhaling the fumes. It causes a cheap jag . . . A spokesman for Testor, which manufactures glue for cementing model planes, told this column that an offensive-smelling additive may be the solution . . . Teamsters boss Jimmy Hoffa, meeting privately with AFL-CIO leaders in California, declared: "Automation is more dangerous to human beings than the atomic bomb." . . . President Kennedy has been buttering up Senate Republican leader Everett Dirksen, the oily orator from Illinois. The President asked Dirksen to line up GOP support for a five-year foreign aid program. Congress would have the right only to review, not reject, the program . . . The President appealed to Democratic Congressional leaders at their last White House meeting: "Give the Peace Corps a chance!" . . . He said the Peace Corps budget had already been knocked down from $100 million to $40 million. "Any more cuts would cripple it." . . . Dr. Franz Joseph Strauss, the energetic West German defense minister, went back to Bonn in a stew. He complained privately that the Pentagon planners aren't preparing for the Berlin showdown . . . The President was appalled over the outbreak of hostilities between France and Tunisia. Ever since his return to Paris he has been a stanch admirer of French President de Gaulle. But Kennedy has also been a champion of North African independence, and he considered President Bourguiba of Tunisia the best friend of the West in the Arab world . . . Kennedy could hardly believe the first reports of fighting between the French and Tunisians. He commented gravely to aides that the fighting was started by miscalculation, and demonstrated how threats and tensions could erupt into a war neither side wanted . . . American experts doubt the authenticity of the violent letter recently published by the London Times which Premier Khrushchev was supposed to have written to Mao Tse-tung of Red China. The letter appears to have been deliberately leaked to the West through Yugoslav sources.

Delayed Flight

By Stan Freberg

What with the second astronaut up and down already, a comment on the Shepard affair may seem somewhat dated. Nonetheless, it is a piece of unfinished business that needs to be aired. Lunching with John Crosby on my trip to the big city last April I was naive enough to call to his attention some eight ads running in the then current issue of "Time" magazine, all taking gaudy bows for having helped launch the astronaut.

"Is that so?" he yawned, glancing at his watch and casually calling for the check. Afterwards I retired to the Algonquin to vent my spleen on the subject for the "Atlantic Monthly." You can imagine how my eyebrows shot up the next morning to find Mr. Crosby had devoted an entire outraged column to the overcommercialization of the astronaut, giving me not one whit of credit. At that point I sort of lost interest in the project but fortunately did not throw my notes away. When Mr. Crosby asked me recently if I would care to do a guest column for him, I was not one bit surprised. It seems the least he could do.

Item in "Time" magazine, April 1961.

"A United States Project Mercury Astronaut has become the first American to enter space and return. From the moment he was sealed in his tiny space craft until he was fished from the Atlantic, he wore a B. F. Goodrich full pressure 'Space Suit' . . . and today motoring is safer than ever because the tubeless tire, originated by B. F. Goodrich, provides protection against bruise blowouts."

A group of men sit hunched over some layouts spread on the floor. Crass, a nervous man affecting a cigarette holder and a tic, speaks.

CRASS: All right now, we've settled on this shot of the astronaut for the Frisbie ads, have we?

BILLINGS (Head of Creative Department): Well, yes, Jack. It's the best shot of the zippers.

CRASS: Couldn't we get in tighter so we could see the name "Frisbie" on the zipper pull?

BILLINGS: We tried it, Jack. If we get in close enough to read the name, you couldn't tell it was a space suit. We've cropped the legs off as it is.

CRASS: Hmm. Yes. By the way, is that Shepard in the suit?

BILLINGS: No. Just a male model. But all we see is his eyes and nose through the face plate, so you know, it COULD be Shepard. The implication is there.

CRASS: Well, that's the important thing. Let's hear the copy.

BILLINGS: Ahem. "Frisbie zipped him in! From the moment he entered Freedom 7 until he was fished from the drink he was zipped in nine ways with Frisbie Zippers. Z-z-z-z Zip! That's how Frisbie is helping keep the world [illegible]fe for Democracy. And speaking of safe, zippering today is safer than ever because of the non-jam zipper, originated by T. L. Frisbie. Remember, Frisbie has zipped up America's clothing for twenty-five years."

CRASS: You there, Root, what about the Foam-ana Toothpaste layouts?

ROOT: Right here, J. B.

CRASS: Hmmmm. A tube of Foam-ana orbiting about the earth, eh? Couldn't you get a shot of Shepard brushing his teeth?

ROOT: No. Security has got a lid on toothbrushing shots.

CRASS: Too bad. Well, go ahead and read the copy anyhow.

ROOT: (He reads dramatically.) "America's astronaut brushed his teeth this morning with some sort of dentifrice. Chances are it was with a toothpaste very much like Foam-ana. If Commander Shepard has ever tried Foam-Ana, we'll bet it's A-OK with him!"

CRASS: Great stuff. Well, that just about—

(Framly, a short balding man, bursts through the door.)

FRAMLY: I wonder if you could glance at this rough, Mr. Crass. I think I've figured a way to tie in Man-Gland Stick Deodorant!

CRASS: (Eagerly.) Let's see. "Nervous perspiration is the worst kind! And you can bet tension was running pretty high aboard Freedom 7 . . ."

That's all I had written last April when my copy of the "New York Herald Tribune" showed up with Mr. Crosby scooping me. Oh, well, at least he gave me equal space. Wherever he is, I wonder if he'd mind clipping this out and sending it over to the "Atlantic Monthly"?

A three-man expedition to the moon within the next 10 years is technically feasible, a convention of the Society of Automotive Engineers is told. If that fellow Kilroy wants to keep up his reputation he'd best get a move on!

On the east, the Ivory Coast shares a 300-mile border with Ghana, on the west a 200-mile border with Guinea.

Border disputes with Guinea last year prompted Houphouet-Boigny to consider arming Ivory Coast farmers in the east. The plan was called off for fear that the farmers might start shooting each other. The trouble now appears to have subsided, but the Ivory Coast's close ties with France may yet prove to be the best guarantee that independence can be preserved against the outside threat of "black imperialism."

Peking Rejects

The brilliant planners in the State Department, led by Under Secretary of State Chester Bowles, who believe in a two Chinas policy, do not inform the American people that their ideas are rejected not only by Taiwan but by Peking; not only by Chiang Kai-shek but by Mao Tze-tung.

In a broadcast from Peking, aimed at Asia, on July 10, Peking tells the world:

"Under the new scheme, as revealed by the U.S. press, the People's Republic of China and the Kuomintang clique in Taiwan, which has been repudiated by the Chinese people, will be viewed 'as successors' to the China that entered the United Nations at its founding. The Kuomintang clique will be allowed to retain the seats which it has so far usurped in the Security Council and the General Assembly, while the People's Republic of China is 'to apply to the Credentials Committee of the General Assembly for approval to occupy an Assembly seat.'"

Apparently, this plan of a two Chinas was disclosed to Prime Minister Ikeda of Japan during his visit to the United States. The Red Chinese commentator said:

> "Since 1950 the United States has tried to block the discussion by the General Assembly of China's representation through a so-called moratorium. This moratorium has been successful in postponing this issue for about 10 years. In the last three or four years, however, 'there has been an increasing feeling in the United Nations . . . that this moratorium formula will no longer suffice to deal with the question, that there will be more and more delegations who will think that at least the question ought to be debated on its merits and not be simply postponed,' Dean Rusk declared."

According to the Peking broadcast, the United States has labored vigorously to sell this plan to the world. The Red Chinese say that James Harland Cleveland, Assistant Secretary of State for International Organization Affairs, and Adlai Stevenson have been sounding out countries on the plan.

There is not the slightest indication that Red China favors the two Chinas plan. In fact, the broadcast clearly indicates that it is unacceptable. The plan was first advocated by Nehru of India and has found no general acceptance among Chinese but has been held aloft for all to look at. It is one of those compromises which means nothing in the end, creates increasing difficulties, but which give the impression of a desire to meet the other fellow at least half way. Why meet him at all? What is the political or economic necessity of meeting him?

The position is that Formosa asserts that it is the lawful government of China, recognized by treaty and a permanent member of the United Nations possessing the right of veto. Red China does not claim to be a successor to the Kuomintang regime. Rather, it takes the position that it is the lawful government of China by right of revolution. Neither side recognizes the other as coeval or for that matter recognizes the other side at all. To a Chinese, there can be no two Chinas.

Red China has been ably represented in the United Nations by Soviet Russia, which has made every possible token effort to protect Red China's interest. At no time has Soviet Russia failed to propose the admission of Red China into the United Nations. At no time has Soviet Russia recognized the existence of Nationalist China as lawful. But at no time have the Red Chinese been willing to accept any status of equality with Nationalist China.

We thus have a situation in the making which will lead to further insults to the United States. What Chester Bowles and his associates advocate is not a program that is beneficial to the United States or to Peking or Formosa. It is an Indian program, part of Nehru's effort to assert an untenable leadership in Asia. It is a scheme that denies legitimacy but supports opportunism.

There can be no reason why the American people should accept a plan of this sort and the likelihood is that they will not. Should this Administration attempt to push it far along, it may become a very burdensome political issue for the President to carry. Perhaps that is why an effort was made to get Chester Bowles to resign which, of course, he did not do.

Senators Clash Over Gen. LeMay's Alleged Prediction Of Nuclear War

By Jack Anderson

(Editor's Note—Drew Pearson is now in Germany checking firsthand on the Berlin crisis. In his absence his column is being written by his associate, Jack Anderson.)

WASHINGTON — That crusty old air warrior, Gen. Curtis LeMay, has been accused of talking recklessly about war. Last week, he almost caused one inside the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

The stony Air Force chief, puffing on his cigar in the Pentagon, was innocently unaware of what was going on. However, he was the object of a brief but furious battle behind the committee's barred doors.

Sen. Wayne Morse, the outspoken Oregonian, started the verbal bombardment by lighting into the brass hats.

"There are only two groups in the world that scare me — the Russian military and the U. S. military," he snorted. "If we don't stop them, they are going to lead mankind to war."

"The U. S. military are stopping the Russians,' he broke in. "They are the only protection we've got."

"I guess," said Morse, "that is what this quote from LeMay means. He said we have got to get out of the cities and head for the mountains of the West. He predicted war by December."

"That isn't true," snapped Symington. "The Senator from Oregon thinks LeMay said that, but he can't offer any proof. Why don't we find out from LeMay whether he said it? Bring him in and put him under oath."

The forthright Oregon Senator, his bushy brows fairly bristling, warned that the world must look beyond military solutions—or the mushrooming might of the two great rival powers will produce a horrible nuclear catastrophe.

"Let me tell you," he cried, "who is going to control the world then—Red China!"

"I am fed up with this attack on the military," retorted Symington.

He praised LeMay's "great public service," described him as the man Soviet Dictator Khrushchev fears most. Symington claimed that LeMay was an advocate of peace not war, that his military strategy has kept the peace.

He not only wouldn't make a warlike statement but wouldn't even think one, Symington said. What's more, he added, "LeMay told me he hadn't made that remark."

"What does the Senator from Missouri think he has proved by that statement?" asked Morse sourly.

Chairman Bill Fulbright of Arkansas rapped the gavel.

"Let's get back to the amendments before the Senators start throwing missiles at each other," he said drily.

"What," asked Symington, "do you think we have been doing?"

Behind The Headlines

Food and Drug investigators are checking on a new teen-age kick. The kids are buying up plastic glue, squeezing it into paper bags, and inhaling the fumes. It causes a cheap jag . . . A spokesman for Testor, which manufactures glue for cementing model planes, told this column that an offensive-smelling additive may be the solution . . . Teamsters boss Jimmy Hoffa, meeting privately with AFL-CIO leaders in California, declared: "Automation is more dangerous to human beings than the atomic bomb." . . . President Kennedy has been buttering up Senate Republican leader Everett Dirksen, the oily orator from Illinois. The President asked Dirksen to line up GOP support for a five-year foreign aid program. Congress would have the right only to review, not reject, the program . . . The President appealed to Democratic Congressional leaders at their last White House meeting: "Give the Peace Corps a chance!" . . . He said the Peace Corps budget had already been knocked down from $100 million to $40 million. "Any more cuts would cripple it." . . . Dr. Franz Joseph Strauss, the energetic West German defense minister, went back to Bonn in a stew. He complained privately that the Pentagon planners aren't preparing for the Berlin showdown . . . The President was appalled over the outbreak of hostilities between France and Tunisia. Ever since his return to Paris he has been a stanch admirer of French President de Gaulle. But Kennedy has also been a champion of North African independence, and he considered President Bourguiba of Tunisia the best friend of the West in the Arab world . . . Kennedy could hardly believe the first reports of fighting between the French and Tunisians. He commented gravely to aides that the fighting was started by miscalculation, and demonstrated how threats and tensions could erupt into a war neither side wanted . . . American experts doubt the authenticity of the violent letter recently published by the London Times which Premier Khrushchev was supposed to have written to Mao Tse-tung of Red China. The letter appears to have been deliberately leaked to the West through Yugoslav sources.

Will McNamara Really Junk The 'New Look'?

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON

The thing to watch for now is whether Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara really carries out his now theory of national defense. This, quite clearly, is the acid test of this remarkable and formidable man.

As previously reported in this space, McNamara has quietly but decisively junked the "new look" defense theory of the Eisenhower administration. The all but exclusive emphasis on nuclear power, which characterized the "new look," has now been abandoned. The nuclear deterrent has most certainly not been downgraded, but the nuclear weapons have been classified as weapons of last resort.

The reasoning behind this very great change was simple and entirely realistic. McNamara and his staff argued that no American President would ever use the nuclear weapons except as weapons of last resort. Therefore, they concluded, it was necessary to have other weapons ready for use in local tests, and even in the first phases of such a global test as the Berlin crisis.

This reasoning is borne out by the record of the Eisenhower administration, which adopted the "new look" theory. Despite a previous N. S. C. directive giving contrary instructions, all planning based on local use of tactical nuclear weapons was promptly ruled out, just as soon as the Quemoy crisis began in 1958. The story was the same when President Eisenhower considered intervening in Laos in 1960.

The "new look" theory and the resulting N. S. C. directives were, in fact, meaningless. In practice, the Eisenhower administration always treated the nuclear weapons strictly as weapons of last resort.

But the reasonableness of the McNamara criticism of the "new look" theory is no guarantee, all the same, that the Secretary of Defense will take the actions demanded by his preferred theory of balanced defense.

This was the old theory of former Secretary of Defense Robert A. Lovvett. It was also the theory defended, while he was Chief of Staff, by Gen. Maxwell Taylor. The Lovett defense program was butchered by Charles E. Wilson; the "new look" theory was adopted; and Gen. Taylor was effectively fired from his post as Army Chief of Staff—all for the same reason. The balanced defense theory demanded too large an investment in men and money.

By men and money, therefore, will be possible to judge whether Secretary McNamara's change of defense theory is a real thing, or a new facade. The most important place to look is clearly the Army; for the right size for the Army is the keypoint in an argument which is now embroiling the theorists, and administrators and uniformed leaders of the Pentagon.

The Army presently consists of 14 divisions, of which three are mere hollow shells. Plans already training divisions — meaning approved will soon transform the hollow shells into fully manned, combat-ready divisions, with their training functions transferred to other outfits.

This gain in real fighting strength will be enough to support the first phase of the Berlin crisis plan approved by President Kennedy. In this phase, three divisions are required to be immediately available for transfer to Western Europe. But it is quite clear that the mere transformation of three training divisions into combat-ready divisions is not the kind of long-run gain that is reuired by the theory of balanced defense.

What gain is really required is now the topic of the conversersy at the Pentagon. The staggering commitments of the U. S., in the SEATO area, the CENTO area, and in Latin America, as well as in Western Europe, are only too plain. But no one is agreed on the size of the strategic reserve needed to discharge these commitments, without primary immediate reliance on nuclear weapons. The Joint Chiefs of Staff, bemused by the "new look," had hardly thought about the problem until now. Hence their answer is unclear.

Will it be enough to increase the Army to 17 combat-ready divisions? Or should there be 21, plus the Marines? Or are 14 divisions enough, if the state of readiness of the reserves and National Guard can only be improved? These are the sorts of numbers now being weighed against the commitments above listed. They are being weighed, one must add, with increasing anxiety, not just because of Berlin but also because of the worsening situation in Southeast Asia.

Being an instinctive economizer McNamara openly leans towards the lowest figures. But if the Army remains at 14 divisions, the difference between the "new look" and the balanced defense theories will not be easily percepitible.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

INACTION — America's space achievements are much in the public mind these days, stimulated by the activities and plans of the Kennedy administration. It comes as something of a shock, therefore, to be brought to the realization that delays in Congress are seriously jeopardizing the work of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

NASA is ready to hire some 5,000 scientists, engineers and other specialized and vitally needed personnel to carry out its enlarged role in the civilian space program. However, Congress has been slow to act on the necessary appropriations bill and the space agency can't turn a wheel. Furthermore, it looks as if several more weeks must pass before there can be any hope for final action on the measure.

It is not unusual for Congress to act slowly on appropriations bills. That body has traditionally been jealous over its control of federal purse strings and likes to examine money requests with a magnifying glass. However, in this instance, speed is essential and the various delays are occuring despite Congressional knowledge that the NASA program might be hurt for months or years to come.

The problem lies in the fact that the national pool of qualified individuals from which NASA must draw its employes is extremely limited. Thus, many who might be inclined toward a government career with NASA are being forced to look elsewhere for employment. Every day that goes by removes highly desirable scientists and engineers from the employment market.

NASA is currently operating on a resolution passed by Congress which permits it to spend each month 1/12 of its 1961 appropriation. This was necessary because Congress failed to approve its money request for this fiscal year by July 1 when it began.

Unlike most other government agencies, NASA is a rapidly growing agency with a rapidly expanding mission. This allotment is sufficient only to retain its present staff and makes no provision for expansion.

Eye Is Like A Camera But Ages More Rapidly

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

The eye is like a camera except that in the human eye, the lens cannot move. This means we have no way to focus when the eyeball is too short (farsightedness) or too long (nearsightedness).

Furthermore, the lens of a good camera is ground to perfection. We develop astigmatism when the outer surface of the eye or the lens is not perfectly spherical. Unless corrective glasses are worn, basketballs look like footballs and the image is distorted as in the funny mirrors in amusement parks.

The eye changes with the passing years, whereas a good camera lasts a long time. It is just as easy to bring a beautiful flower or a distant mountain into focus on the day the camera was bought as 20 years later. The aging eye becomes less elastic and less capable of changing the curvature of the lens.

Most young people have no difficulty shifting their gaze from a house a mile away to reading a book. This is known as accommodation. It beats the best automatic focusing adjuster in a modern camera except that it becomes less efficient with the passing years. It takes longer to focus on printed material after shifting the eyes from a distant object.

Glasses correct defects in visual acuity. After 40, while good distant vision remains, many of us find it difficult to focus on objects close to the eyes. They must be held farther away to be seen clearly. This is corrected with bifocals initially and, for some, trifocals.

In time, greater magnification is needed because the two eyes do not track well together. A single object seen with both eyes is not blended into one (stereopsis). This is bothersome, particularly for close work. The best test for lack of stereopsis is to close one eye and note how much clumsier you are doing close work.

PRESSURE SORE

E. F. writes: What can be done about a sore on the ear caused by using a hearing aid?

REPLY

Consult your physician first to make certain the sore comes from irritation. If so, it may be necessary to go without the aid until healing occurs or get a new earpiece that fits without rubbing.

FOOD APPEASEMENT

Mrs. H. V. writes: Whenever I get upset by things going wrong, I crave food. What can I do to stop this bad habit?

REPLY

Walk around the block until the feeling disappears. If the weather is bad, stay home but chew on celery, carrots, or radishes. Your habit is known as consolation eating.

MILK LEG IN MALE

G. H. K. writes: Can a man develop milk leg?

REPLY

Yes, even though he never becomes an obstetrical case. This colloquial term refers to swelling of an extremity following inflammation of a vein or the lymphatic passageways. The disorder follows surgery, injury, or pregnancy and occasionally develops spontaneously.

EPILEPTIC SEIZURES

K. M. writes: I'm 37 years old and have had epilepsy for 25 years. I used to get attacks every four or five weeks, but now they seem to be coming every two weeks, even though I take pills regularly. Could you tell me why?

REPLY

The medication is not controling the attacks and a larger dosage or a different product may be needed. Modern anti-epilepsy remedies control the seizures in the majority of victims, but not in everyone. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on epilepsy.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

The early days of the New Yorker were highlighted by the running feud between Editor Harold Ross and his coy, self-satisfied star contributor, Alexander Woollcott. Woollcott once completed some intricate testimonial transaction whereby he came into possession of 200 expensive Paris neckties, and in a moment of rare graciousness, told Ross, "Pick one out for yourself." Ross not only picked one for himself, but pilfered forty extra in the process. The next time Mr. W. paid a scheduled visit to the New Yorker office, everybody in the place, from the elevator boy and the receptionist to the statue of John Greenleaf Whittier in the founder's private sanctum, was draped in one of Woollcott's cravats. "Ross," shrieked Woollcott, "you are the kind of poltroon with whom no gentleman can deal!" and flounced off to his island in Vermont—

Delayed Flight

By Stan Freberg

What with the second astronaut up and down already, a comment on the Shepard affair may seem somewhat dated. Nonetheless, it is a piece of unfinished business that needs to be aired. Lunching with John Crosby on my trip to the big city last April I was naive enough to call to his attention some eight ads running in the then current issue of "Time" magazine, all taking gaudy bows for having helped launch the astronaut.

"Is that so?" he yawned, glancing at his watch and casually calling for the check. Afterwards I retired to the Algonquin to vent my spleen on the subject for the "Atlantic Monthly." You can imagine how my eyebrows shot up the next morning to find Mr. Crosby had devoted an entire outraged column to the overcommercialization of the astronaut, giving me not one whit of credit. At that point I sort of lost interest in the project but fortunately did not throw my notes away. When Mr. Crosby asked me recently if I would care to do a guest column for him, I was not one bit surprised. It seems the least he could do.

Item in "Time" magazine, April 1961.

"A United States Project Mercury Astronaut has become the first American to enter space and return. From the moment he was sealed in his tiny space craft until he was fished from the Atlantic, he wore a B. F. Goodrich full pressure 'Space Suit' . . . and today motoring is safer than ever because the tubeless tire, originated by B. F. Goodrich, provides protection against bruise blowouts."

A group of men sit hunched over some layouts spread on the floor. Crass, a nervous man affecting a cigarette holder and a tic, speaks.

CRASS: All right now, we've settled on this shot of the astronaut for the Frisbie ads, have we?

BILLINGS (Head of Creative Department): Well, yes, Jack. It's the best shot of the zippers.

CRASS: Couldn't we get in tighter so we could see the name "Frisbie" on the zipper pull?

BILLINGS: We tried it, Jack. If we get in close enough to read the name, you couldn't tell it was a space suit. We've cropped the legs off as it is.

CRASS: Hmm. Yes. By the way, is that Shepard in the suit?

BILLINGS: No. Just a male model. But all we see is his eyes and nose through the face plate, so you know, it COULD be Shepard. The implication is there.

CRASS: Well, that's the important thing. Let's hear the copy.

BILLINGS: Ahem. "Frisbie zipped him in! From the moment he entered Freedom 7 until he was fished from the drink he was zipped in nine ways with Frisbie Zippers. Z-z-z-z Zip! That's how Frisbie is helping keep the world safe for Democracy. And speaking of safe, zippering today is safer than ever because of the non-jam zipper, originated by T. L. Frisbie. Remember, Frisbie has zipped up America's clothing for twenty-five years."

CRASS: You there, Root, what about the Foam-ana Toothpaste layouts?

ROOT: Right here, J. B.

CRASS: Hmmmm. A tube of Foam-ana orbiting about the earth, eh? Couldn't you get a shot of Shepard brushing his teeth?

ROOT: No. Security has got a lid on toothbrushing shots.

CRASS: Too bad. Well, go ahead and read the copy anyhow.

ROOT: (He reads dramatically.) "America's astronaut brushed his teeth this morning with some sort of dentifrice. Chances are it was with a toothpaste very much like Foam-ana. If Commander Shepard has ever tried Foam-Ana, we'll bet it's A-OK with him!"

CRASS: Great stuff. Well, that just about—

(Framly, a short balding man, bursts through the door.)

FRAMLY: I wonder if you could glance at this rough, Mr. Crass. I think I've figured a way to tie in Man-Gland Stick Deodorant!

CRASS: (Eagerly.) Let's see. "Nervous perspiration is the worst kind! And you can bet tension was running pretty high aboard Freedom 7 . . ."

That's all I had written last April when my copy of the "New York Herald Tribune" showed up with Mr. Crosby scooping me. Oh, well, at least he gave me equal space. Wherever he is, I wonder if he'd mind clipping this out and sending it over to the "Atlantic Monthly"?

You're Telling Me

A three-man expedition to the moon within the next 10 years is technically feasible, a convention of the Society of Automotive Engineers is told. If that fellow Kilroy wants to keep up his reputation he'd best get a move on!

Feeding hens certain foods will cause them to lay eggs with green yolks, according to an article in an agriculture magazine. Doesn't sound like such a good idea—even at Easter time!

Paracutin, Mexico's youngest mountain, was, we're told, the first new volcano to burst into being within the last two centuries. That's soon enough!

Life today, declares a philosopher, seems to have more bumps. Maybe it's just due to the great increase in autos.

Old Thomas A. Edison, who was America's greatest and busiest thinker-upper seems, according to the man at the next desk, to have invented just about everything but an excuse.

SRC Hires Firm For Westernport Road Relocation

WESTERNPORT—The firm of Baker-Wibberley and Associates, Inc., consulting engineers of Hagerstown, has been retained by the State Roads Commission to prepare construction plans for the improvement of Maryland Route 135 through Westernport, according to a letter read at Wednesday night's meeting of the Mayor and Commissioners.

The letter requested any information concerning sanitary sewers, storm sewers and existing rights-of-way that might be useful in the preparation of the plans. The request will be complied witn as promptly as possible.

The route at present extends up Church Street from the corporate line to Main Street. From there it will be rerouted directly across Georges Creek to again join with its present road to Luke. After crossing to the north side of the creek it will intersect with a new highway for Route 36 leading up Georges Creek. Plans call for building only a small section of the new Route 36 from the intersection with Route 135 to the Washington Street crossing. Later this new highway will be continued north through Westernport and Brophytown to join with the present highway at the foot of Phoenix Hill.

Representatives of the SRC have been appraising Railroad Street houses which will be razed to make way for the new highway. Eleven families will be displaced.

The use of radar in regulating motor traffic is unlawful, Horace P. Whitworth Jr., town attorney, told the Mayor and Commissioners in a written opinion.

Efforts are being made by council to secure oil for oiling unpaved streets within the corporate limits. The use of a bulldozer for scraping and clearing off weeds on the alley between Memorial Park and houses on the south side of Maryland Avenue is being arranged.

Melvin Whitfield conferred with the Mayor and Commissioners regarding the terms of the insurance policy which his firm has for the protection of town workers. Comparison was made with a policy which was offered by the insurance representative from the Maryland Municipal League at the last meeting. Whitfield was asked to provide the cost of the addition of life insurance to the policy.

The town will receive $3,004.37 from the SRC as its share from the sale of gasoline taxes and motor vehicle revenue fund.

Nearly all work that required close use of the eyes was done outdoors in early times.

SRC Hires Firm For Westernport Road Relocation

WESTERNPORT—The firm of Baker-Wibberley and Associates, Inc., consulting engineers of Hagerstown, has been retained by the State Roads Commission to prepare construction plans for the improvement of Maryland Route 135 through Westernport, according to a letter read at Wednesday night's meeting of the Mayor and Commissioners.

The letter requested any information concerning sanitary sewers, storm sewers and existing rights-of-way that might be useful in the preparation of the plans. The request will be complied witn as promptly as possible.

The route at present extends up Church Street from the corporate line to Main Street. From there it will be rerouted directly across Georges Creek to again join with its present road to Luke. After crossing to the north side of the creek it will intersect with a new highway for Route 36 leading up Georges Creek. Plans call for building only a small section of the new Route 36 from the intersection with Route 135 to the Washington Street crossing. Later this new highway will be continued north through Westernport and Brophytown to join with the present highway at the foot of Phoenix Hill.

Representatives of the SRC have been appraising Railroad Street houses which will be razed to make way for the new highway. Eleven families will be displaced.

The use of radar in regulating motor traffic is unlawful, Horace P. Whitworth Jr., town attorney, told the Mayor and Commissioners in a written opinion.

Efforts are being made by council to secure oil for oiling unpaved streets within the corporate limits. The use of a bulldozer for scraping and clearing off weeds on the alley between Memorial Park and houses on the south side of Maryland Avenue is being arranged.

Melvin Whitfield conferred with the Mayor and Commissioners regarding the terms of the insurance policy which his firm has for the protection of town workers. Comparison was made with a policy which was offered by the insurance representative from the Maryland Municipal League at the last meeting. Whitfield was asked to provide the cost of the addition of life insurance to the policy.

The town will receive $3,004.37 from the SRC as its share from the sale of gasoline taxes and motor vehicle revenue fund.

Nearly all work that required close use of the eyes was done outdoors in early times.

Maris Hits 41st As Yanks Win; Fisher Winner In Split With Angels

Yankees Beat Twins, 8-5, In 10 Innings

Johnny Blanchard, Harmon Killebrew Hit 3-Run Homers

NEW YORK (AP) — Johnny Blanchard crashed a tenth inning home run with two mates aboard to give the New York Yankees an 8-5 victory over Minnesota Friday night after Harmon Killebrew's three-run homer in the eighth had forced the game into extra innings.

Bill Pleis, in relief of starter Camilo Pascual, was on the mound when Blanchard connected for his 14th home run of the season with two out. Blanchard never should have come to bat in the tenth, but a mental lapse by Twins infielder Ted Lepcio gave the Yankees a life.

After Pleis had retired the first two batters, he walked Mickey Mantle. Yogi Berra singled off Killebrew's glove into right field. Mantle tried to go to third but was trapped between the bases when Lepcio took Bob Allison's throw from the outfield.

Mantle faked back to second and stopped. Lepcio started to throw, then held the ball as if confused. Mantle then broke for third and beat Lepcio's late throw to Pleis, covering the bag. Four pitches later, Blanchard reached the seats in the lower right field stands, scoring Mantle and Berra ahead of him.

The Yankees led 5-2 going into the eighth, three of the runs coming in the first inning when Roger Maris connected with the home run, his 41st of the season.

Steelers Plan Scrimmage Drill

SLIPPERY ROCK, Pa. (UPI)— Coach Buddy Parker will scrimmage his Pittsburgh Steeler squad here Saturday before an expected 2,000 fans who will be on hand for the team's annual alumni day program.

The contact drill will probably be the last head-knocking Parker will stage before the Steeler exhibition opener against the Baltimore Colts in Victory Stadium at Roanoke, Va., Aug. 12.

Parker will unveil an entirely new secondary Saturday since Lowe (Junior) Wren was put on the waiver list Thursday. Dean Derby, in his fifth season with the Steelers, is the only holdover from last season's defensive backfield.

Beman, Harvey Lead In Amateur Tourney

PORTSMOUTH, Va. (AP)—National amateur champion Deane Beman of Bethesda, Md., and Bill Harvey of Greensboro, N. C., fired five-under-par 65s Friday in their first qualifying rounds of the Eastern Amateur Golf Tournament.

Their hot shotmaking at the Elizabeth Manor Country Club gave them a three-stroke lead over Ed Justa of Rocky Mount, N. C., and Carl Lohren of Silver Spring, Md., who posted 68s.

Qualifying rounds will continue through Saturday for the field of 250. Those 36-hole qualifying results will be added to Sunday's 36-hole finals for total tournament tallies.

The 50 low scorers will compete Sunday for the championship.

Sweden, Italy Tie In Davis Cup Play

MILAN, Italy (UPI) — Sweden and Italy tied, 1-1 Friday in opening matches of the European Davis Cup finals as Jan Erik Lundquist of Sweden and Fausto Gardini of Italy both scored upset victories.

The 24-year-old Lundquist stunned the crowd of 4,000 at the Milan tennis club by beating top Italian star Nicola Pietrangeli in four sets, 6-2, 7-5, 1-6, 6-4.

But Gardini, appearing in Davis Cup play for the first time in five years, saved Italy from a 2-0 deficit when he came from behind to beat Ulf Schmidt, former U. S. indoor champion, 6-4, 4-6, 1-6, 6-3, 6-1.

Dapper Cardinals Whip Pirates, 14-7, Play Phils Today

The Cardinals scored nine runs in the third inning yesterday to overcome a 7-2 deficit and went on to defeat the Pirates, 14-7, in a Dapper Division contest at Post Field in the Dapper Dan Little League.

The win enabled the Cardinals to move within a game of the league-leading Phillies who will play the Cardinals in their final game of the regular season today at 4 p.m. at Constitution Park.

A win by the Phillies today will clinch the title for them while the Cardinals need a victory to share the championship.

Harry "Butch" Fuller was the winning pitcher in yesterday's game in a relief role. It was his sixth win without a setback.

Joe Hemmis had a homer and double, Ken Green had two singles and a triple, Nick Perlozzo collected a two-bagger and a single and Dave Coffman had a three-bagger in the Cardinals attack.

Kline's home run with two aboard and a three-run triple by Billy Shanholtz were the big blows for the Pirates. The results:

Robinson's Double Wins In Ninth

CINCINNATI (AP) — Frank Robinson doubled to center in the ninth inning Friday night to break a 4-4 tie and keep the Cincinnati Reds on top of the National League with a 5-4 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Robinson's double scored Vada Pinson, who had singled off the Pirates' third reliever, Clem Labine. Labine was charged with the loss, his second in three decisions.

The Pirates jumped to an early lead in the first when Bill Virdon singled and scored on Bob Skinner's one-bagger after advancing on a ground-out.

Pinson tied the score for Cincinnati in the fifth by singling home starting hurler Bob Purkey and the Reds went ahead briefly in the seventh when Pete Whisenant tallied on a safety by Leo Cardenas.

Rocky Nelson drew a walk. Dick Schofield ran for Nelson and scored when Wally Post dropped Virdon's long drive.

Virdon reached second on the error and went to third on a sacrifice. Then Dick Stuart hit his 17th homer to make it 4-2.

Allen Fox Upset Frank Froehling In Net Tourney

SOUTHAMPTON, N.Y. (UPI)— Allen Fox, the National Collegiate champion, Friday upset third-seeded Frank Froehling to gain the semifinals of the 73rd Meadow Club Invitation, Tennis Tournament, along with Jack Douglas, Ron Holmberg and Australia's Bob Mark.

The unseeded Fox, of Los Angeles, rallied to defeat Froehling, Coral Gables, Fla., 3-6, 6-1, 6-4.

Douglas, the top-seeded Marine corporal from Santa Monica, Calif., out-duelled Whitney Reed, Alameda, Calif., 6-2, 3-6, 6-2 and fifth-seeded Holmberg, Brooklyn, N.Y., stopped 19-year-old Bill Bond, La Jolla, Calif., 6-3, 7-5.

Mark, the top-seeded foreign entrant, disposed of eighth-seeded Chris Crawford, Piedmont, Calif., 6-2, 6-4, to qualify for a match Saturday with Douglas. In the other semifinal, Holmberg will oppose the chunky, 22-year-old Fox.

Baker Is Released From Hospital

EASTON, Md. (AP) — Frank (Home Run) Baker was released Friday from Easton Memorial Hospital, where he had been a patient since Monday with a respiratory infection.

Baker, 75, a member of baseball's Hall of Fame, returned to his farm at Trappe, Md. He became ill at a Hall of Fame celebration in Cooperstown, N.Y., last week, and was forced to cancel an appearance at the Old Timers' game at Yankee Stadium in New York last Saturday.

Colts' Hopeful Gets Draft Call

WESTMINSTER, Md. (AP) — The Baltimore Colts sliced four more rookies off their pre-season training roster Friday and lost a fifth hopeful to the Army.

Wayne Everhart, a 242-pound tackle from Appalachian State who had made a good showing in the National Football League team's camp here, received his draft notice ordering him to report for induction Aug. 22.

"I'm only 23 years old and maybe I'll get a chance to play some good football in the service," said Everhart. "If I do, I'll come back here in a couple of years with more maturity and experience."

Paced on waivers were tackles LeRoy Bergan of South Dakota State and Ball Hall of Kent State and guards Dale Johannesen of Augustana and Jerald James of Grambling.

Billie Moffitt Gains Phila. Tennis Finals

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Defending champion Billie Jean Moffitt of Long Beach, Calif., advanced to the finals of the Philadelphia and District Women's Grass Court tennis championship Friday by defeating Marilyn Montgomery of San Antonio, Tex., 6-3, 5-7, 6-1.

Edda Buding, German champion, gained the right to meet Miss Moffitt for the title at Germantown Cricket Club Saturday by beating second-seeded Victoria Palmer of Phoenix, Ariz., 6-2, 6-2.

Miss Montgomery won the second set from Miss Moffitt when the top-seeded star became erratic after holding match point at 5-2. Miss Montgomery, hitting deeply, surprised by winning 10 straight points and out of the 22 to square the match.

However, double faults proved costly to Miss Montgomery in the third set.

Bobby Robertson whiffed 10 and hurled a four-hitter for his seventh triumph without a loss. Ray Spriggs was the loser for the Mounties who dropped into fourth place in the standings behind Cresaptown which defeated Westernport, 4-1, yesterday at Cresaptown.

Robertson belted a home run and two doubles to pace the hard-hitting Mt. Savage attack. Bernie Loar unloaded a triple and Ralph Wilson had a double for the winners.

The Little Moes will play Cresaptown in an important game today at 1:30 p. m., on the Cresaptown diamond.

Cresaptown's John Wright tossed a five-hitter as he beat Westernport's Pat Ryan. The winners tallied three runs in the fourth inning to break a scoreless deadlock as Steve Vandenberg obtained two hits and Tim Martin and Kay Miller each belted two-baggers.

Gerald Miller and Bill Determan had two-base hits for the Westernport nine which now has dropped 15 of 17 decisions in the league.

Lonaconing's second-place team kept pace with a 3-2 victory over the Frostburg Mounties yesterday at Lonaconing.

Doubles by Wheeler Clark and Fred Metz and a single by Gary Sloan highlighted the three-run outburst which Lonaconing made stand up for a victory. Fike had a double and single for the Mounties who were held to three hits by Danny Sloan who whiffed 10.

Jim High cracked a three-run triple to climax a six-run rally in the bottom of the seventh as Barton came from behind to defeat Corriganville, 11-10, in an old-fashioned slugfest yesterday at Barton.

Dennis Ashby went the route for the winners and fanned 12. Terry Golden was the loser in relief of Tom Connors.

Pro Eagles Whip Stars By 28-14

McDonald Grabs Three TD Passes

CHICAGO (AP) — Tommy McDonald made three spectacular catches of touchdown passes Friday night as the Philadelphia Eagles overwhelmed the college All-Stars 28-14 in the 28th annual All-Star football game before 65,000 in Soldier Field.

Only the brilliant passes of Bill Kilmer of UCLA and Norman Snead of Wake Forest kept the All-Stars in the game.

In the final minutes Kilmer passed 18 yards to Glynn Gregory of Southern Methodist for a touchdown. With only seconds left Dick Grecni of Ohio U., intercepted a pass and ran 57 yards for the collegians' second and last touchdown.

Joe Bellino, Navy's All-America, suffered a pulled leg muscle warming up for the game and was unable to play.

The Eagles, National Football League champions, alternated King Hill and Sonny Jurgensen on quarterback. There was little to choose between them.

In the first period Jurgensen threw 27 yards to McDonald who caught the ball in the end zone with a jump that put him flat on his back. In the second period Hill tossed 24 yards to McDonald who dove for the ball and caught it at the goal line. Finally McDonald made a leaping catch of a 24 yard pass from Jurgensen in the last period for a touchdown, and Jurgensen also passed 25 to Pete Retzlaff in the first to score.

The All-Stars opened the game with a bang. Bill Brown of Illinois returned the first kickoff 39 yards to the All-Star 46. Norman Snead of Wake Forest passed 42 yards to Aaron Thomas of Oregon State on the Eagles 12. But two plays later Brown fumbled and the All-Star hopes were dashed.

Kaline, Wood Homer As Lary Wins 15th

DETROIT (UPI)—The Detroit Tigers banged out 11 hits, including homers by Al Kaline and Jake Wood, to back Frank Lary to his 15th win of the season as he downed the Cleveland Indians Friday night, 6-1.

The victory enabled the Tigers to stay one and one-half games behind the league leading New York Yankees, who beat the Minnesota Twins in another night game.

Lary dispelled any doubt that his pitching arm was not sound as he went the route allowing seven hits and striking out four. He did not walk a man.

Kaline socked his 14th homer of the season in the third inning after Bill Bruton singled to push the Tigers in front, 3-1. Wood hit a solo blast in the fifth inning to start a two-run rally. The Tigers scored again in the inning on singles by Bruton and Kaline.

The win gave Lary a 15-6 season mark, the best on the Tiger staff.

Lary, who had been ineffective in his last four starts, showed his old steam. The loss was charged to starter Barry Latman, who has won nine and lost three.

Orioles Win Nightcap 3-0 Behind Jack

Los Angeles Wins Opener 3-1 With 5th-Inning Rally

BALTIMORE (AP)—Jack Fisher stopped the Los Angeles Angels 3-0 on five hits in the second game Friday night to give the Baltimore Orioles a split in a well-pitched twi-night doubleheader.

The Angels won the first game 3-1 behind the three-hit pitching of lefty Ted Bowsfield, who lost a shutout when Jackie Brandt hit his eighth homer with one out in the ninth inning.

Fisher retired the last 14 Los Angeles batters in a row as he won his fifth game against 10 defeats. The loser, Eli Grba, dropped his seventh in a row and is now 5-11.

Grba was lifted for a pinch hitter in the eighth after allowing only one run on two singles and a sacrifice fly by Jim Gentile in the third inning.

Philley's double gave him 20 pinch safeties for the season, tying the American League record set by Ed Coleman of the St. Louis Browns in 1936. The major league record of 22 is held by Sam Leslie, set in 1932 with the New York Giants.

The opening game victory was the fifth in Baltimore for the Angels, who have captured only 15 road games all season.

The Angels scored all their runs off loser Steve Barber in the fifth inning on a single by Ed Yost, a walk, a two-run double by Ken Hunt, and a run-scoring single by George Thomas.

In another Dan Division game at East Side Field, the Senators ended an eight-game losing streak and won their second game of the season with a 6-4 decision over the Dodgers.

Mike Stegmaier was the winner in relief as he and starter Nelson Carroll combined to whiff 11 enemy batters. Daum was the loser.

Outdoor Club Bows To Army Nine, 7-4

The bottom two teams in the Hot Stove League registered victories yesterday as Kiwanis Club bested B'nai B'rith, 7-6, in a nine-inning thriller at Mason Road, and the Salvation Army won its second game in a row with a 7-4 triumph over Outdoor Club at Penn Avenue field.

Tom Stitcher hurled a six-hitter and fanned 15 in going the route for Kiwanis which won when Dan McFarland singled with one out in the ninth, went to second on a sacrifice and scored when John Irons' fly to right center fell between two outfielders who collided.

Mike Wilt hit a two-run double in the fifth for B'nai B'rith while Ed Piper had three hits including a run-scoring triple in the seventh. Piper scored later on a sacrifice fly to send the game into overtime.

Salvation Army backed up the six-hit pitching of Larry Wolfe and Keith Jeffreys with a 10-hit assault to win their third game of the season over Outdoor Club. The two S. A. hurlers whiffed 13 in the game.

Maris Hits 41st As Yanks Win; Fisher Winner In Split With Angels

Yankees Beat Twins, 8-5, In 10 Innings

Johnny Blanchard, Harmon Killebrew Hit 3-Run Homers

NEW YORK (AP) — Johnny Blanchard crashed a tenth inning home run with two mates aboard to give the New York Yankees an 8-5 victory over Minnesota Friday night after Harmon Killebrew's three-run homer in the eighth had forced the game into extra innings.

Bill Pleis, in relief of starter Camilo Pascual, was on the mound when Blanchard connected for his 14th home run of the season with two out. Blanchard never should have come to bat in the tenth, but a mental lapse by Twins infielder Ted Lepcio gave the Yankees a life.

After Pleis had retired the first two batters, he walked Mickey Mantle. Yogi Berra singled off Killebrew's glove into right field. Mantle tried to go to third but was trapped between the bases when Lepcio took Bob Allison's throw from the outfield.

Mantle faked back to second and stopped. Lepcio started to throw, then held the ball as if confused. Mantle then broke for third and beat Lepcio's late throw to Pleis, covering the bag. Four pitches later, Blanchard reached the seats in the lower right field stands, scoring Mantle and Berra ahead of him.

The Yankees led 5-2 going into the eighth, three of the runs coming in the first inning when Roger Maris connected with the home run, his 41st of the season.

Steelers Plan Scrimmage Drill

SLIPPERY ROCK, Pa. (UPI)—Coach Buddy Parker will scrimmage his Pittsburgh Steeler squad here Saturday before an expected 2,000 fans who will be on hand for the team's annual alumni day program.

The contact drill will probably be the last head-knocking Parker will stage before the Steeler exhibition opener against the Baltimore Colts in Victory Stadium at Roanoke, Va., Aug. 12.

Parker will unveil an entirely new secondary Saturday since Lowe (Junior) Wren was put on the waiver list Thursday. Dean Derby, in his fifth season with the Steelers, is the only holdover from last season's defensive backfield.

Beman, Harvey Lead In Amateur Tourney

PORTSMOUTH, Va. (AP)—National amateur champion Deane Beman of Bethesda, Md., and Bill Harvey of Greensboro, N. C., fired five-under-par 65s Friday in their first qualifying rounds of the Eastern Amateur Golf Tournament.

Their hot shotmaking at the Elizabeth Manor Country Club gave them a three-stroke lead over Ed Justa of Rocky Mount, N. C., and Carl Lohren of Silver Spring, Md., who posted 68s.

Qualifying rounds will continue through Saturday for the field of 250. Those 36-hole qualifying results will be added to Sunday's 36-hole finals for total tournament tallies.

The 50 low scorers will compete Sunday for the championship.

But Gardini, appearing in Davis Cup play for the first time in five years, saved Italy from a 2-0 deficit when he came from behind to beat Ulf Schmidt, former U. S. indoor champion, 6-4, 4-6, 1-6, 6-3, 6-1.

Dapper Cardinals Whip Pirates, 14-7, Play Phils Today

The Cardinals scored nine runs in the third inning yesterday to overcome a 7-2 deficit and went on to defeat the Pirates, 14-7, in a Dapper Division contest at Post Field in the Dapper Dan Little League.

The win enabled the Cardinals to move within a game of the league-leading Phillies who will play the Cardinals in their final game of the regular season today at 4 p.m. at Constitution Park.

A win by the Phillies today will clinch the title for them while the Cardinals need a victory to share the championship.

Harry "Butch" Fuller was the winning pitcher in yesterday's game in a relief role. It was his sixth win without a setback.

Joe Hemmis had a homer and double, Ken Green had two singles and a triple, Nick Perlozzo collected a two-bagger and a single and Dave Coffman had a three-bagger in the Cardinals attack.

Kline's home run with two aboard and a three-run triple by Billy Shanholtz were the big blows for the Pirates. The results:

Robinson's Double Wins In Ninth

CINCINNATI (AP) — Frank Robinson doubled to center in the ninth inning Friday night to break a 4-4 tie and keep the Cincinnati Reds on top of the National League with a 5-4 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Robinson's double scored Vada Pinson, who had singled off the Pirates' third reliever, Clem Labine. Labine was charged with the loss, his second in three decisions.

The Pirates jumped to an early lead in the first when Bill Virdon singled and scored on Bob Skinner's one-bagger after advancing on a ground-out.

Pinson tied the score for Cincinnati in the fifth by singling home starting hurler Bob Purkey and the Reds went ahead briefly in the seventh when Pete Whisenant tallied on a safety by Leo Cardenas.

Virdon reached second on the error and went to third on a sacrifice. Then Dick Stuart hit his 17th homer to make it 4-2.

The Reds promptly came back with four straight singles to tie the game again.

SOUTHAMPTON, N.Y. (UPI)—Allen Fox, the National Collegiate champion, Friday upset third-seeded Frank Froehling to gain the semifinals of the 73rd Meadow Club Invitation, Tennis Tournament, along with Jack Douglas, Ron Holmberg and Australia's Bob Mark.

The unseeded Fox, of Los Angeles, rallied to defeat Froehling, Coral Gables, Fla., 3-6, 6-1, 6-4.

Baker Is Released From Hospital

EASTON, Md. (AP) — Frank (Home Run) Baker was released Friday from Easton Memorial Hospital, where he had been a patient since Monday with a respiratory infection.

Baker, 75, a member of baseball's Hall of Fame, returned to his farm at Trappe, Md. He became ill at a Hall of Fame celebration in Cooperstown, N.Y., last week, and was forced to cancel an appearance at the Old Timers' game at Yankee Stadium in New York last Saturday.

Colts' Hopeful Gets Draft Call

WESTMINSTER, Md. (AP) — The Baltimore Colts sliced four more rookies off their pre-season training roster Friday and lost a fifth hopeful to the Army.

Wayne Everhart, a 242-pound tackle from Appalachian State who had made a good showing in the National Football League team's camp here, received his draft notice ordering him to report for induction Aug. 22.

"I'm only 23 years old and maybe I'll get a chance to play some good football in the service," said Everhart. "If I do, I'll come back here in a couple of years with more maturity and experience."

Paced on waivers were tackles LeRoy Bergan of South Dakota State and Ball Hall of Kent State and guards Dale Johannesen of Augustana and Jerald James of Grambling.

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Defending champion Billie Jean Moffitt of Long Beach, Calif., advanced to the finals of the Philadelphia and District Women's Grass Court tennis championship Friday by defeating Marilyn Montgomery of San Antonio, Tex., 6-3, 5-7, 6-1.

Edda Buding, German champion, gained the right to meet Miss Moffitt for the title at Germantown Cricket Club Saturday by beating second-seeded Victoria Palmer of Phoenix, Ariz., 6-2, 6-2.

Miss Montgomery won the second set from Miss Moffitt when the top-seeded star became erratic after holding match point at 5-2. Miss Montgomery, hitting deeply, surprised by winning 10 straight points and out of the 22 to square the match.

However, double faults proved costly to Miss Montgomery in the third set.

McDonald Grabs Three TD Passes

CHICAGO (AP) — Tommy McDonald made three spectacular catches of touchdown passes Friday night as the Philadelphia Eagles overwhelmed the college All-Stars 28-14 in the 28th annual All-Star football game before 65,000 in Soldier Field.

Only the brilliant passes of Bill Kilmer of UCLA and Norman Snead of Wake Forest kept the All-Stars in the game.

In the final minutes Kilmer passed 18 yards to Glynn Gregory of Southern Methodist for a touchdown. With only seconds left Dick Grecni of Ohio U., intercepted a pass and ran 57 yards for the collegians' second and last touchdown.

Joe Bellino, Navy's All-America, suffered a pulled leg muscle warming up for the game and was unable to play.

The Eagles, National Football League champions, alternated King Hill and Sonny Jurgensen on quarterback. There was little to choose between them.

In the first period Jurgensen threw 27 yards to McDonald who caught the ball in the end zone with a jump that put him flat on his back. In the second period Hill tossed 24 yards to McDonald who dove for the ball and caught it at the goal line. Finally McDonald made a leaping catch of a 24 yard pass from Jurgensen in the last period for a touchdown, and Jurgensen also passed 25 to Pete Retzlaff in the first to score.

The All-Stars opened the game with a bang. Bill Brown of Illinois returned the first kickoff 39 yards to the All-Star 46. Norman Snead of Wake Forest passed 42 yards to Aaron Thomas of Oregon State on the Eagles 12. But two plays later Brown fumbled and the All-Star hopes were dashed.

Kaline, Wood Homer As Lary Wins 15th

DETROIT (UPI)—The Detroit Tigers banged out 11 hits, including homers by Al Kaline and Jake Wood, to back Frank Lary to his 15th win of the season as he downed the Cleveland Indians Friday night, 6-1.

The victory enabled the Tigers to stay one and one-half games behind the league leading New York Yankees, who beat the Minnesota Twins in another night game.

Lary dispelled any doubt that his pitching arm was not sound as he went the route allowing seven hits and striking out four. He did not walk a man.

Kaline socked his 14th homer of the season in the third inning after Bill Bruton singled to push the Tigers in front, 3-1. Wood hit a solo blast in the fifth inning to start a two-run rally. The Tigers scored again in the inning on singles by Bruton and Kaline.

The win gave Lary a 15-6 season mark, the best on the Tiger staff.

Lary, who had been ineffective in his last four starts, showed his old steam. The loss was charged to starter Barry Latman, who has won nine and lost three.

Orioles Win Nightcap 3-0 Behind Jack

Los Angeles Wins Opener 3-1 With 5th-Inning Rally

BALTIMORE (AP)—Jack Fisher stopped the Los Angeles Angels 3-0 on five hits in the second game Friday night to give the Baltimore Orioles a split in a well-pitched twi-night doubleheader.

The Angels won the first game 3-1 behind the three-hit pitching of lefty Ted Bowsfield, who lost a shutout when Jackie Brandt hit his eighth homer with one out in the ninth inning.

Fisher retired the last 14 Los Angeles batters in a row as he won his fifth game against 10 defeats. The loser, Eli Grba, dropped his seventh in a row and is now 5-11.

Grba was lifted for a pinch hitter in the eighth after allowing only one run on two singles and a sacrifice fly by Jim Gentile in the third inning.

Philley's double gave him 20 pinch safeties for the season, tying the American League record set by Ed Coleman of the St. Louis Browns in 1936. The major league record of 22 is held by Sam Leslie, set in 1932 with the New York Giants.

The opening game victory was the fifth in Baltimore for the Angels, who have captured only 15 road games all season.

The Angels scored all their runs off loser Steve Barber in the fifth inning on a single by Ed Yost, a walk, a two-run double by Ken Hunt, and a run-scoring single by George Thomas.

Leasure collected three hits to pace the Indians at bat while batterymate Alvin Harris banged out a pair of singles. Walter Crawford also had two hits and Jim Hillebrecht belted a two-run homer for the victors.

In another Dan Division game at East Side Field, the Senators ended an eight-game losing streak and won their second game of the season with a 6-4 decision over the Dodgers.

Mike Stegmaier was the winner in relief as he and starter Nelson Carroll combined to whiff 11 enemy batters. Daum was the loser.

Outdoor Club Bows To Army Nine, 7-4

The bottom two teams in the Hot Stove League registered victories yesterday as Kiwanis Club bested B'nai B'rith, 7-6, in a nine-inning thriller at Mason Road, and the Salvation Army won its second game in a row with a 7-4 triumph over Outdoor Club at Penn Avenue field.

Tom Stitcher hurled a six-hitter and fanned 15 in going the route for Kiwanis which won when Dan McFarland singled with one out in the ninth, went to second on a sacrifice and scored when John Irons' fly to right center fell between two outfielders who collided.

Mike Wilt hit a two-run double in the fifth for B'nai B'rith while Ed Piper had three hits including a run-scoring triple in the seventh. Piper scored later on a sacrifice fly to send the game into overtime.

Salvation Army backed up the six-hit pitching of Larry Wolfe and Keith Jeffreys with a 10-hit assault to win their third game of the season over Outdoor Club. The two S. A. hurlers whiffed 13 in the game.

Frostburg Will Host Moorefield In Pen Mar League Doubleheader

Hyndman 9 Will Be Host To Salisbury

Leaders To Seek 11th Win In Row; Nine Games Set

Frostburg's Merchants will meet Moorefield in a twin bill at Community Park in Frostburg today, beginning at 1:30 p. m., in the feature attraction of a weekend of baseball activity in the Pen Mar League this Saturday and Sunday.

The Merchants, victors in their last two games, will attempt to win their 14th game of the season and third in a row over Moorefield in the opener of today's bargain encounter. Frostburg has beaten the visitors, 7-3 and 8-6, in their only two meetings this season.

Merchant aces Ralph Peace (6-2) and Mike Kasnick (5-0) are expected to toe the slab for Manager William "Bee" Scarpelli's second-place tossers. Moorefield, meanwhile, has lost two in a row—bowing 5-4 to Mt. Savage last Sunday and 3-0 to Lonaconing on Saturday — and hopes to break the losing spell today.

Seek 11th Win In Row

The league-leading Hyndman Merchants, victorious in their last 10 games, will go after No. 11 in a row with a single game against the Salisbury Cardinals today at Hyndman. The Merchants have defeated the Cardinals 17-14 and 4-2 while Salisbury won 5-4 in their three meetings so far this year.

Glenn Deremer (6-1) or Vohn Lehman (7-3) probably will be on the mound for Hyndman in the 3:30 p.m. contest. Robert or John Keister will hurl for Salisbury.

In other league games today Mt. Savage (8-15) will travel to Lonaconing to meet the Coney Carlings and Barrelville (13-8) will host the last-place Flintstone Farmers who have lost three straight and 17 of 20 for the year.

The Mt. Savage Old Germans defeated Lonaconing 3-2 in their first meeting but the Carlings won the next two games, 14-1 and 9-2. Barrelville has defeated Flintstone 17-3 and 7-3 in their two meetings.

Both these games also start at 3:30 p.m. today.

Four Games Sunday

Sunday's schedule of four league contests will find Moorefield at Flintstone; Barrelville at Frostburg; Hyndman at Mt. Savage and Lonaconing at Salisbury. All Sunday games will get underway at 2:30 p. m.

League secretary Howard "Farmer" Northcraft announced last night that several player transactions were completed before the August 1 deadline.

Mt. Savage signed Leroy Robertson; Barrelville signed Richard Sterne; and Hyndman signed James Norris who had been released by Flintstone.

Northcraft also announced umpire assignments for league games next week. They are:

Wednesday, August 9

Saturday, August 12

Sunday, August 13

Shoots 137 For One Stroke Edge

BALTIMORE (AP) — Ken Venturi, battling wind and rain five holes from home, stormed through Friday to hold the lead halfway through the 72-hole Eastern Open Golf Tournament with a score of 137, seven strokes below par.

The 30-year-old from San Francisco clipped three strokes off par through 13 holes before a deluge fell on the Pine Ridge course.

He conquered tricky winds and a muddy course to equal par the rest of the way for a 69 behind Thursday's opening 68.

Brewer and Sanders, par 72 shooters Thursday, went around in 66 the second time while Littler took 68, two better than his initial round.

U.S. Track Stars Win

Score Triumphs In Sweden Meet

MALMOE, Sweden (UPI) — American track and field stars Ralph Boston, Jim Beatty, Frank Budd, and Earl Young scored victories in an international meet Friday night to continue their triumphant tour of Sweden.

Boston, world record holder for the broad jump who won the event in a meet Thursday night in Goteborg with a leap of 26 feet, 7-8 inch, surpassed that effort here with a jump of 8.10 meters (26 feet, 6¾ inches). The jump by the Tennessee State star marked the first time the 8-meter mark has been broken in Sweden.

Budd, Villanova University's world record holder for 100 yards, won the 100-meter dash in 10.2 seconds, easily defeating Harry Jerome of Canada. Budd also was clocked in 10.2 Thursday night in Goteborg, and those two races are the fastest at the distance in the world this year.

Beatty, of the Santa Clara Youth Village, romped to an easy victory in the 1,500 meter run. His time of 3:54.2 did not come close to his clocking of 3:30.9 at Warsaw last weekend or 3:44.8 at Goteborg Thursday night.

Young won the 200 meter dash by three-tenths of a second over Johnsson of Sweden in 21.4 seconds. The Abilene Christian College ace won a 400-meter run in Goteborg.

Ken Campbell Bunyan Leader

Campbell's four birdies in the opening 18-hole round of the four-day tourney at Penobscot Valley Country Club Thursday gave him a three-stroke lead over second-place Ernie Vossler of Oklahoma City, Okla. Campbell's 67 was five under par.

Jimmy Venojn 18, of Orono, led the amateurs with a 71. Amateurs Fred Rice of Orono and Vin O'Bey of Worcester, Mass., both had 73s.

Greenpoint Inn pushed over five runs in the first two innings and hung on to defeat the Hyndman Vets, 5-3, yesterday and increased their first-place margin in the County Softball League to two games over runner-up Ellerslie.

The loss dropped Hyndman into third place in the standings as Ellerslie moved up by virtue of an 11-5 triumph over Barrelville's Old Germans at Ellerslie.

In the third game Kennell's Mill registered its fifth win of the season with a 9-3 decision over Stringtown on the latter's diamond.

Greenpoint handed Hyndman ace Junior Brelsford his ninth setback, scoring a run in the first on a walk, sacrifice and a passed ball, then adding four more in the second on singles by Buddy Meade, Dick Niner, Walt Basilio and George Bishields coupled with a walk, two errors and an infield out.

Art Raygor held Hyndman to six hits to earn his 14th pitching victory for Greenpoint. Dan Kreigline had a triple and single and Pep May a double and single in a losing cause for the Vets.

Vernon Lowery chalked up his 18th mound triumph although touched for 10 hits by Barrelville. Ellerslie scored five runs in the first and added four more in the fourth to put the game out of reach for the Old Germans.

Frederick Bows In Legion Play

Parkville Wins 13-8; Bel Air Eliminated

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—Parkville Post 189 outslugged Post 11 of Frederick, 13-8 Friday to become the only undefeated team in the Maryland American Legion Junior Baseball Championships.

Hyattsville Post 3, which eliminated Bel Air Post 39 with a 1-0 victory earlier in the day, will meet Frederick Saturday to determine which one will face Parkville in the finals of the double-elimination tournament Sunday.

In the first game, Hyattsville scored its lone run in the third inning when Russell Spittle walked stole second and scored on a single by Mike Stasulli.

Bel Air loaded the bases in the sixth, but relief pitcher John Susce struck out Wayne Ensor to halt the rally.

Water Regulations Strictly Enforced

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — The second weekend of enforcement of boat speeds and water skiing restrictions on certain waterways of Maryland begins Saturday

The Tidewater Fisheries Commission had 100 signs posted by last Saturday when the regulations went into effect, and 300 additional warning signs were to be up by Friday midnight.

The regulations bar water skiing in certain areas and limit boat speeds to six knots in posted areas.

Purse Is Raised For Pimlico Futurity

BALTIMORE (AP) — The purse for the Pimlico Futurity will be raised to $75,000 effective with the 1963 running of the race, Louis Pondfield, Pimlico's executive director, announced Friday.

Other changes in conditions will raise the estimated gross pot to about $200,000, Pondfield said, for the November run at a mile and a sixteenth.

Nominations for the 1963 futurity close Aug. 15, with no provision for supplemental nominations. Pimlico officials said the prize money for the first four finishers probably will be about $130,000, $40,000, $20,000 and $10,000. All foals of 1961 are eligible.

Crozier To Race At Arlington Park

By The Associated Press

Two important $100,000 races, the American Derby at Chicago's Arlington Park and the Sapling Stakes at Monmouth Park (N.J.), headline the racing program Saturday.

Fred W. Hooper's Crozier and Calumet Farm's Beau Prince will renew an old rivalry in the 1⅛-mile American Derby, where nine 3-year-olds were entered. C. T. Chenery's Sir Gaylord and an unbeaten upstart, Battle Joined from the Cain Hoy Stable, head a field of 11 in the 6-furlong Sapling for 2-year-olds.

Crozier was the shadow of Carry Back, Kentucky Derby, Preakness, Flamingo and Florida Derby winner, early in the season. Crozier is the probable favorite. Another threat is Fourth Estate Stable's Editorialist.

With nine going, the Chicago race will gross $121,900 with the winner taking $74,000.

Sir Gaylord has won four straight, including the Tyro, National Stallion and Great American stakes. He's currently the East's top candidate for the 2-year-old title. Battle Joined, unbeaten in his three starts, figures to be second choice with Monmouth's biggest crowd of the year making Sir Gaylord the favorite. If 11 start, the Sapling will gross $123,410 with $74,046 to the winner.

Gene Fullmer Defends Title

Fernandez Seeks Crown Tonight

OGDEN, Utah (AP) — NBA middleweight champion Gene Fullmer Friday remained the general favorite to turn back the challenge of knockout specialist Florentino Fernandez but the Cuban invader was given a puncher's chance to score an upset.

The 15-round bout goes on Saturday night in Ogden Stadium, rain or shine, with a national television audience tuned in via ABC at 9 o'clock, EST.

The 25-year-old Cuban left-hooker has signed a stipulation that he will not leave the United States for at least 90 days in the event he wins the title, staying on to give the West Jordan, Utah, mauler a chance to regain the National Boxing Association portion of the title.

This will be 30-year-old Gene's sixth defense of the crown he won from Carmen Basilio in San Francisco Aug. 28, 1959.

Old Germans Top Purple Heart, 1-0

A single by winning pitcher Ernie Condon plated the only run of the game yesterday as the Old Germans edged Purple Heart, 1-0, in a Rec Softball League encounter at Naval Reserve Field.

The win was the 14th in 16 decisions for the National Division leaders while Purple Heart has lost seven of 15 games.

Condon held Purple Heart to two hits and struck out 10 to win his ninth victory in 11 decisions. Kenny Perdew also hurled a two-hitter but bowed for the seventh time in 15 games.

Old Germans	010	000	0—1	2	0

Ernie Condon and Carcella. Ken Perdew and Bob Russell.

Flintstone Tops Fort Ashby, 2-1

Flintstone ended Fort Ashby's unbeaten streak in the second half race of the Maryland-West Virginia Little League yesterday by turning back the league-leaders, 2-1, in eight innings. The loss snapped a four-game winning streak for Fort Ashby.

Singles by Larry Mauzy, Paul Sites and Larry Martin plated the winning run in the second extra inning.

In another league game, Patterson Creek walloped Ridgeley, 13-5, as Leo Lease went the route with a seven-hit effort.

Lease had a pair of doubles and a home run, Charles Kenney had two doubles and a single and Mickey Readd had three singles in the 18-hit Patterson Creek attack. Foley hit a three-bagger and Scott a pair of two-baggers for the losers. The results:

Forty & Eight Upsets Bernstein's Nine, 5-4

Gurley's Scores Over Curl's, 7-5, In Rec Semi-Finals

Forty & Eight eliminated pennant-winning Bernstein's, 5-4, yesterday at Stitcher Field to advance to the finals of the Rec High School Baseball League playoffs with Gurley's who defeated Curl's Camera Shop, 7-5, at Fort Hill in the other playoff encounters.

Forty & Eight defeated Bernstein's twice during the regular season and upset the league winners with an 11-hit attack yesterday which included a double and two singles by Roger Flanagan.

Ronnie Evans, the losing pitcher, also hit a double and two singles for Bernstein's and Mike Long belted a solo home run in the seventh for the losers.

Jimmy Powelson was the winning pitcher, but a strong relief job by Roger Flanagan saved the verdict in the sixth. Flanagan came in with the bases loaded to fan Evans for the third out and went on to hold Bernstein's in check.

Gurley's pulled a triple play in the sixth inning to snuff out a Curl's rally. Cox caught a pop fly at short and trapped a runner off third, then a relay nailed another runer at second to complete the play.

Harold Hardinger collected two hits, including a double, for the losers while Cox had a double and single and Sloan a triple for Gurley's. Dave Merrill chipped in with a pair of singles for the winners.

The best-of-three final playoffs between Gurley's and Forty & Eight will get underway on Monday. The results:

Frostburg Will Host Moorefield In Pen Mar League Doubleheader

Hyndman 9 Will Be Host To Salisbury

Frostburg's Merchants will meet Moorefield in a twin bill at Community Park in Frostburg today, beginning at 1:30 p. m., in the feature attraction of a weekend of baseball activity in the Pen Mar League this Saturday and Sunday.

The Merchants, victors in their last two games, will attempt to win their 14th game of the season and third in a row over Moorefield in the opener of today's bargain encounter. Frostburg has beaten the visitors, 7-3 and 8-6, in their only two meetings this season.

Merchant aces Ralph Peace (6-2) and Mike Kasnick (5-0) are expected to toe the slab for Manager William "Bee" Scarpelli's second-place tossers. Moorefield, meanwhile, has lost two in a row—bowing 5-4 to Mt. Savage last Sunday and 3-0 to Lonaconing on Saturday — and hopes to break the losing spell today.

Seek 11th Win In Row

The league-leading Hyndman Merchants, victorious in their last 10 games, will go after No. 11 in a row with a single game against the Salisbury Cardinals today at Hyndman. The Merchants have defeated the Cardinals 17-14 and 4-2 while Salisbury won 5-4 in their three meetings so far this year.

Glenn Deremer (6-1) or Vohn Lehman (7-3) probably will be on the mound for Hyndman in the 3:30 p.m. contest. Robert or John Keister will hurl for Salisbury.

In other league games today Mt. Savage (8-15) will travel to Lonaconing to meet the Coney Carlings and Barrelville (13-8) will host the last-place Flintstone Farmers who have lost three straight and 17 of 20 for the year.

The Mt. Savage Old Germans defeated Lonaconing 3-2 in their first meeting but the Carlings won the next two games, 14-1 and 9-2. Barrelville has defeated Flintstone 17-3 and 7-3 in their two meetings.

Both these games also start at 3:30 p.m. today.

Four Games Sunday

Sunday's schedule of four league contests will find Moorefield at Flintstone; Barrelville at Frostburg; Hyndman at Mt. Savage and Lonaconing at Salisbury. All Sunday games will get underway at 2:30 p. m.

League secretary Howard "Farmer" Northcraft announced last night that several player transactions were completed before the August 1 deadline.

Mt. Savage signed Leroy Robertson; Barrelville signed Richard Sterne; and Hyndman signed James Norris who had been released by Flintstone.

Northcraft also announced umpire assignments for league games next week. They are:

Wednesday, August 9

Saturday, August 12

Barrelville at Lonaconing — Mel Nee and Bill Wilson.

Shoots 137 For One Stroke Edge

BALTIMORE (AP) — Ken Venturi, battling wind and rain five holes from home, stormed through Friday to hold the lead halfway through the 72-hole Eastern Open Golf Tournament with a score of 137, seven strokes below par.

The 30-year-old from San Francisco clipped three strokes off par through 13 holes before a deluge fell on the Pine Ridge course.

He conquered tricky winds and a muddy course to equal par the rest of the way for a 69 behind Thursday's opening 68.

Brewer and Sanders, par 72 shooters Thursday, went around in 66 the second time while Littler took 68, two better than his initial round.

U.S. Track Stars Win

Score Triumphs In Sweden Meet

MALMOE, Sweden (UPI) — American track and field stars Ralph Boston, Jim Beatty, Frank Budd, and Earl Young scored victories in an international meet Friday night to continue their triumphant tour of Sweden.

Boston, world record holder for the broad jump who won the event in a meet Thursday night in Goteborg with a leap of 26 feet, 7-8 inch, surpassed that effort here with a jump of 8.10 meters (26 feet, 6¾ inches). The jump by the Tennessee State star marked the first time the 8-meter mark has been broken in Sweden.

Budd, Villanova University's world record holder for 100 yards, won the 100-meter dash in 10.2 seconds, easily defeating Harry Jerome of Canada. Budd also was clocked in 10.2 Thursday night in Goteborg, and those two races are the fastest at the distance in the world this year.

Beatty, of the Santa Clara Youth Village, romped to an easy victory in the 1,500 meter run. His time of 3:54.2 did not come close to his clocking of 3:30.9 at Warsaw last weekend or 3:44.8 at Goteborg Thursday night.

Young won the 200 meter dash by three-tenths of a second over Johnsson of Sweden in 21.4 seconds. The Abilene Christian College ace won a 400-meter run in Goteborg.

Ken Campbell Bunyan Leader

Campbell's four birdies in the opening 18-hole round of the four-day tourney at Penobscot Valley Country Club Thursday gave him a three-stroke lead over second-place Ernie Vossler of Oklahoma City, Okla. Campbell's 67 was five under par.

Jimmy Venojn 18, of Orono, led the amateurs with a 71. Amateurs Fred Rice of Orono and Vin O'Bey of Worcester, Mass., both had 73s.

Purse Is Raised For Pimlico Futurity

BALTIMORE (AP) — The purse for the Pimlico Futurity will be raised to $75,000 effective with the 1963 running of the race, Louis Pondfield, Pimlico's executive director, announced Friday.

Other changes in conditions will raise the estimated gross pot to about $200,000, Pondfield said, for the November run at a mile and a sixteenth.

Nominations for the 1963 futurity close Aug. 15, with no provision for supplemental nominations. Pimlico officials said the prize money for the first four finishers probably will be about $130,000, $40,000, $20,000 and $10,000. All foals of 1961 are eligible.

Crozier To Race At Arlington Park

By The Associated Press

Two important $100,000 races, the American Derby at Chicago's Arlington Park and the Sapling Stakes at Monmouth Park (N.J.), headline the racing program Saturday.

Fred W. Hooper's Crozier and Calumet Farm's Beau Prince will renew an old rivalry in the 1⅛-mile American Derby, where nine 3-year-olds were entered. C. T. Chenery's Sir Gaylord and an unbeaten upstart, Battle Joined from the Cain Hoy Stable, head a field of 11 in the 6-furlong Sapling for 2-year-olds.

Crozier was the shadow of Carry Back, Kentucky Derby, Preakness, Flamingo and Florida Derby winner, early in the season. Crozier is the probable favorite. Another threat is Fourth Estate Stable's Editorialist.

With nine going, the Chicago race will gross $121,900 with the winner taking $74,000.

Sir Gaylord has won four straight, including the Tyro, National Stallion and Great American stakes. He's currently the East's top candidate for the 2-year-old title. Battle Joined, unbeaten in his three starts, figures to be second choice with Monmouth's biggest crowd of the year making Sir Gaylord the favorite. If 11 start, the Sapling will gross $123,410 with $74,046 to the winner.

Gene Fullmer Defends Title

Fernandez Seeks Crown Tonight

OGDEN, Utah (AP) — NBA middleweight champion Gene Fullmer Friday remained the general favorite to turn back the challenge of knockout specialist Florentino Fernandez but the Cuban invader was given a puncher's chance to score an upset.

The 15-round bout goes on Saturday night in Ogden Stadium, rain or shine, with a national television audience tuned in via ABC at 9 o'clock, EST.

The fight has its international aspects and Fullmer's manager, Marv Jenson, declared: "It is not incorrect to say Gene is fighting for the free world."

The 25-year-old Cuban left-hooker has signed a stipulation that he will not leave the United States for at least 90 days in the event he wins the title, staying on to give the West Jordan, Utah, mauler a chance to regain the National Boxing Association portion of the title.

This will be 30-year-old Gene's sixth defense of the crown he won from Carmen Basilio in San Francisco Aug. 28, 1959.

Old Germans Top Purple Heart, 1-0

Gurley's Scores Over Curl's, 7-5, In Rec Semi-Finals

Forty & Eight eliminated pennant-winning Bernstein's, 5-4, yesterday at Stitcher Field to advance to the finals of the Rec High School Baseball League playoffs with Gurley's who defeated Curl's Camera Shop, 7-5, at Fort Hill in the other playoff encounters.

Ronnie Evans, the losing pitcher, also hit a double and two singles for Bernstein's and Mike Long belted a solo home run in the seventh for the losers.

Jimmy Powelson was the winning pitcher, but a strong relief job by Roger Flanagan saved the verdict in the sixth. Flanagan came in with the bases loaded to fan Evans for the third out and went on to hold Bernstein's in check.

Gurley's pulled a triple play in the sixth inning to snuff out a Curl's rally. Cox caught a pop fly at short and trapped a runner off third, then a relay nailed another runer at second to complete the play.

Harold Hardinger collected two hits, including a double, for the losers while Cox had a double and single and Sloan a triple for Gurley's. Dave Merrill chipped in with a pair of singles for the winners.

Autos Set Pace In Stock Market Race To New High

NEW YORK (AP) — The automobile industry, tooling up for what Wall Street thinks will be a big year, generated most of the power Friday as the stock market raced to new record highs.

Popular averages were unanimous in proclaiming the new peaks. Gains ranged from fractions to 2 points or so and spread through a long list of the time-tested, blue chip issues which make up these averages.

An estimated $2.87 billion was added to quoted values of stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange, based on a 2-point rise by The Associated Press 60-stock average. This closed at 253.90 after equaling the May 17 previous peak of 252.60 at noon. Industrials rose 2.70, also to a new high; rails were up 1.20 and utilities gained a full point to a new 1961 high.

Over-all trading came to 3.71 million shares compared with 3.65 million Thursday.

Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, rising steadily with each hourly reading, closed with a gain of 4.98 to 720.69. This marked its third record high in the past four days.

Chrysler was most active on the day, rising 2¼ to 51⅜ on turnover of 61,400 shares.

Eleven of the most active rose, three fell and Avco was unchanged.

American Stock Exchange prices also advanced over a broad front. Volume rose to 1.32 million shares from 1.13 million Thursday.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI) — March and May wheat deliveries posted new highs for the season Friday on the Chicago Board of Trade as export and commercial demand continued strong for the bread grain.

Other grains were narrowly mixed in slow trading.

Wheat closed up ¼ to 1; corn off ¼ to ⅝; oats unchanaged to off ¼; rye off 1 to up ¼; soybeans off ⅛ to up ¾.

General buying in wheat followed reports that India bought 3,650,000 bushels of hard wheat. Passage of a farm bill providing for higher supports and reduced 1962 wheat production also helped the market.

A private estimate on this year's corn and soybean crops was not as large as some traders expected. The report predicted an all-time high soybean crop of 654 million bushels.

Rye futures also rallied, chiefly on an upturn in the Winnipeg market. Hot dry weather over western Canada caused buying of Winnipeg and Minneapolis grains.

Soybeans were irregular but mostly on the plus side. The private estimate was less bearish than expected, and exporters reported sale of 8,375,000 bushels to Sweden for November shipment. Meal and oil also advanced.

Outside markets were mostly higher.

Autos Set Pace In Stock Market Race To New High

NEW YORK (AP) — The automobile industry, tooling up for what Wall Street thinks will be a big year, generated most of the power Friday as the stock market raced to new record highs.

Popular averages were unanimous in proclaiming the new peaks. Gains ranged from fractions to 2 points or so and spread through a long list of the time-tested, blue chip issues which make up these averages.

An estimated $2.87 billion was added to quoted values of stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange, based on a 2-point rise by The Associated Press 60-stock average. This closed at 253.90 after equaling the May 17 previous peak of 252.60 at noon. Industrials rose 2.70, also to a new high; rails were up 1.20 and utilities gained a full point to a new 1961 high.

Over-all trading came to 3.71 million shares compared with 3.65 million Thursday.

Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, rising steadily with each hourly reading, closed with a gain of 4.98 to 720.69. This marked its third record high in the past four days.

Standard & Poor's much more comprehensive 500-stock index rose 0.39 to 67.68, its highest ever.

Chrysler was most active on the day, rising 2¼ to 51⅜ on turnover of 61,400 shares.

Eleven of the most active rose, three fell and Avco was unchanged.

American Stock Exchange prices also advanced over a broad front. Volume rose to 1.32 million shares from 1.13 million Thursday.

Bond volume totaled $6.51 million compared with $6.94 million Thursday.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

Yesterday's Cryptoquote: A FATHER'S HEART IS TENDER, THOUGH THE MAN'S IS MADE OF STONE—YOUNG.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI) — March and May wheat deliveries posted new highs for the season Friday on the Chicago Board of Trade as export and commercial demand continued strong for the bread grain.

Other grains were narrowly mixed in slow trading.

Wheat closed up ¼ to 1: corn off ¼ to ⅜; oats unchanaged to off ¼; rye off 1 to up ¼; soybeans off ⅛ to up ¾.

General buying in wheat followed reports that India bought 3,650,000 bushels of hard wheat. Passage of a farm bill providing for higher supports and reduced 1962 wheat production also helped the market.

A private estimate on this year's corn and soybean crops was not as large as some traders expected. The report predicted an all-time high soybean crop of 654 million bushels.

Rye futures also rallied, chiefly on an upturn in the Winnipeg market. Hot dry weather over western Canada caused buying of Winnipeg and Minneapolis grains.

Soybeans were irregular but mostly on the plus side. The private estimate was less bearish than expected, and exporters reported sale of 8,375,000 bushels to Sweden for November shipment. Meal and oil also advanced.

Outside markets were mostly higher.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of Pvt. Eugene E. Deffinbaugh, who died in France Aug. 5th, 1944.

He would not want the ones he loves
to grieve for him today;
We must not say that he is dead,
For he is just away—
Away upon a journey to a land
that's bright and fair;
And though we all miss him here

Sadly missed by

In Memoriam

In loving memory of Pvt. Eugene E. Deffinbaugh, who died in France Aug. 5th, 1944.

He would not want the ones he loves
to grieve for him today;
We must not say that he is dead,
For he is just away—
Away upon a journey to a land
that's bright and fair;
And though we all miss him here
We know he's happy there.
Sadly missed by
Mother, Sisters and Brothers

Census Drops City's Share Of Race Tax

Levy Estimate Will Be Lowered

Cumberland's pride was hurt when the results of the 1960 Census were in.

The count disclosed that this Western Maryland industrial and transportation center was no longer Maryland's second largest city and that the honor was to go to Hagerstown.

The census showed that Cumberland's population, which stood at 37,679 in 1950, had dropped to 33,415. It was slightly more, 38,483, in the 1940 Census.

Now the census figures are hurting again, and in the pocketbook.

The City of Cumberland estimated, in the 1960-61 levy, that it would receive $44,000 from this state-shared source of revenues which is distributed on the basis of population.

Receipts Drop

The actual receipts were $38,669.77, which is $5,330.23 less than was levied.

City Comptroller Arthur B. Gibson said yesterday he will be obliged to drop the estimate for the present fiscal year.

The need was disclosed this week as the city received its first payment from state racing income funds for fiscal 1961-1962. The check totaled $18,522.13, or about $12,000 less than last year's first payment.

In the 1959 budget, the first payment totaled $32,317.72. The first 1960 check was for $30,342.42.

Income from the so-called Sherbow funds, which are shared with political subdivisions in lieu of taxing powers, was spotty during the fiscal year which ended June 30.

State admission tax funds, estimated at $3,000, fell short $85.73.

State auto license fees, for which $34,000 was levied, totaled $41,839.25, or $7,839.25 more than was anticipated.

State franchise taxes brought in $1,778.75, or $21.25 short of the levy.

Gas Tax Up

State gas and auto tax funds amounted to $95,904.87, or $10,904.87 more than the levy.

State income tax funds brought in a healthy $93,249.67, or $23,249.67 more than was included in the levy.

State racing income, as was mentioned, totaled $38,669.77, or $5,330.23 short of the levy.

The city actually fared pretty well on total state-shared income. Actual collections were some $37,000 higher than the $237,800 which was levied from Sherbow funds.

Small Plant Gets Permit For Building

Biltwell Fabricating Company in Election District 16 at North Branch yesterday obtained a permit to build a $3,500 fabricating building. James G. Stevenson, clerk to the county commissioners, who issued the permit, wrote that the new structure will be a 60-by-60-foot concrete block building.

The Cumberland Industrial Development Corporation, in its annual report issued in June, listed Biltwell as one of two small manufacturing plants brought to the Cumberland area in the past 12 months.

Biltwell has taken over the old Twigg Sheet Metal Shop at North Branch. It is assembling small trailers for the Army.

Vesper Service Set Sunday At Park

The Cumberland Ministerial Association's vesper service in the amphitheater at Constitution Park at 6:45 p. m. Sunday will be in charge of Rev. George Alfred Hazen, pastor of Zion United Church of Christ.

His topic will be "The Practice of Prayer." Special music will be furnished by the Zion Church choir under the direction of Mrs. A. C. Emerick.

In case of rain, the service will be held in Kingsley Methodist Church, Williams Street.

Hume Protests Planned Dinner For Tawes

Says It 'Violates Moral Propriety'

BRYANTOWN, Md. (AP)—David Hume, a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, said Friday a proposed testimonial dinner for Gov. Tawes involves "a violation of moral propriety at the very least."

In a statement issued from his Charles County home, Hume said the dinner has been described by its sponsors "in two separate incompatible ways."

"First, the money was to be an outright gift to the governor," Hume said. "Secondly, the money was for a campaign war chest to assist the governor in seeking another term.

"Experienced as he (Tawes) is in politics and with all the legal aid available to him, he should know that if the money is a gift, he should not in good conscience accept it; and if it is for campaign purposes he should comply with the provisions of the Corrupt Practices Act and file immediately as a candidate."

If the projected dinner does violate the Corrupt Practices Act, Hume said, "the governor should recognize that under the law the buyer of the ticket, as well as the person who gets the money is equally guilty."

"I have no desire to injure any person through some legal technicality," Hume said.

"Nevertheless, there is a violation of moral propriety here at the very least...a violation so strong that the sponsors of this affair and the governor should recognize that when our great Democratic party is treated in such fashion, another candidate acting as the standardbearer in 1962, whoever he may be, will find himself penalized for actions not his own."

Arborists Told Of Licensing

Details of a new Maryland law licensing people in the tree trimming business were given by State Forester H. C. Buckingham at a recent meeting of the Maryland Arborist Association in Annapolis.

Urner Wigfield, secretary, who attended from here, said the law requires that those who advertise or solicit business in the field must be licensed.

The use of sprays on shade trees was explained by Dr. George S. Langford and Dr. L. O. Weaver of the University of Maryland.

Women Voters' League Meets Next Tuesday

Richards Will Discuss History

Some aspects of the history of Allegany County will be described by Thomas Lohr Richards, local attorney, at a membership meeting of the Provisional League of Women Voters of Allegany County in the City Hall council room here at 8 p. m. Tuesday.

This meeting will be open to all women citizens of voting age who are or may like to become a member of the new league.

Mrs. Alexander Ganyu has been selected as unit organization chairman and will be in charge of coordinating the various resource committees which will be formed after the initial topic for study. Selection of the item will take place at the August 8 meeting. Members are being asked to decide on the topics in which they are most interested and to volunteer to serve on the resource committee for that item of study.

The first unit meetings are scheduled to take place in September. For convenience of the members, two units have been formed. The Cumberland unit will be led by Mrs. Edward Sokolowski and the Frostburg unit by Mrs. John Zimmerman. Announcement of the topic, time and place will be made prior to the meetings so that all who are interested in attending may do so.

Wallet, $300 Is Returned To Shopper

A woman who was shopping in the Tri-State Discount Store on Gay Street Thursday evening learned there are still honest people in this world.

She mislaid her wallet containing over $300. It was found by William Weaver, about 21, of Ellerslie, who took it to the service counter.

Arnold Arnone, assistant manager, was notified, and used the store's loudspeaker system to ask if the woman was in the store.

She went to his office and inquired if a wallet had been found. She was given the wallet after properly identifying it as hers.

Marine Corps Reservists Can Get Active Duty

Local Marine reservists in the grades of corporal and below can now apply for active duty tours of two, three and four years with the regular Marine Corps, Capt. J. F. Schoen Jr., inspector-instructor of the 43d Rifle Company, USMCR, announced yesterday.

The action was taken as part of the build-up to a 190,000-man Marine Corps authorized by Congress.

Capt. Schoen stressed that "this is strictly a voluntary program, and applies to all Marine reservists regardless of whether they are in an organized unit or not."

The regular Marine Corps was opened to reservists August 1, when the Marine commandant, General David M. Shoup, announced that 2,500 reservists up through corporal rank could apply for extended active duty. Until this announcement, reservists generally could get active duty only by vacating their reserve status and joining the regular Marine Corps for four-year tours.

Banker Heads CUF Drive In Keyser Area

Fund To Observe Fifth Birthday

The fifth birthday campaign of County United Fund is coming up and Duard H. Little, manager of Allegany Ballistics Laboratory and 1961 general chairman, is getting ready to put the drive in orbit by naming the top men of area communities to top CUF jobs.

His most recent appointee, J. Lee Temple, cashier of the Keyser National Bank, who will head the 1961 CUF drive in the Keyser area, is not only a top man in his community, but an ardent CUF campaign worker over the past four years.

Mr. Temple "knows the ropes," having worked in just about every department of the big givers' organization which this year is out to raise $361,231 for 31 health, social service, youth and community agencies in 31 towns of Allegany and Mineral counties.

"I am glad to accept the Keyser chairmanship," Mr. Temple told Mr. Little, "because I know from experience that the United way is the best way of providing the greatest service at the least cost to the people."

A native of Franklin, W. Va., he joined the staff of the Keyser past chairman of Group Seven, National Bank in 1945, and is West Virginia Bankers Association, and a former member of the council of the West Virginia State Bankers Association.

A member of Grace Methodist Church, Keyser, the new chairman is busy lining up his campaign organization for the 1961 CUF drive and predicts that it will be as successful as the 1960 team.

Record Crowd Expected At Fishing Rodeo Today

A record throng of children from the Cumberland area is expected to turn up at Oldtown this morning for the opening of the 13th Annual Fishing Rodeo.

The outing will be held from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. in the Battie Mixon fishing area of the C & O Canal. Sponsors report that all facilities are ready for the fishing contest.

The area was stocked by the Game and Inland Fish Commission several days ago so the fish would be acclimated and hungry.

The funds were used to purchase equipment for the youngsters. The poles will be collected by the Cumberland Outdoor Club after they are used today, and will be stored for use of the handicapped children during future years.

The Cumberland Recreation Department, co-sponsor with the Outdoor Club and the Oldtown Sportsmen Club, reports that nine of the 14 city playgrounds will provide buses for children. Other grounds are making arrangements for transportation.

Handicraft Exhibit Set For Tuesday

The annual handicraft exhibit will be sponsored by the City Recreation Department next week.

The exhibit, featuring articles made at each of the 14 playgrounds, will be held Tuesday through Thursday from 1 to 5 p. m. at 65 North Centre Street, opposite City Hall.

Each playground will sponsor an exhibit especially prepared for the annual event, according to Mrs. Eva Hogan, general playground supervisor.

Among the exhibits will be a doll house, complete with furniture, made by children of Virginia Avenue Playground.

In general, the exhibits will include vases, candle holders and other useful articles made from waste materials.

Tawes To Back Bill Favoring Urban Dwellers

Says Unit System Is Antiquated

ROCKVILLE, Md. (AP)—Gov. Tawes said Friday he will support reapportionment of the Maryland Legislature next year to give urban areas better representation.

He disclosed his plans in a letter to the Democratic State Central Committee of Montgomery County.

"Maryland cannot afford a system that makes second-class citizens of its urban dwellers," the governor said.

To Back Bill

Replying to the committee's request for a commission to study redistricting, reapportionment and the county unit voting system, Tawes said:

"What we need is not more study but action. I intend to support a reapportionment bill in the next session of the General Assembly with all my strength as governor and my position as leader of the Democratic party."

A reapportionment bill backed by Tawes failed in the 1961 Legislature.

As to rearranging congressional districts in the state, the governor said he prefers to "await the decision of the electorate."

Voters To Decide

Voters will decide next year whether to approve creation of an 8th Congressional District composed of Prince Georges and Howard counties.

The governor termed the county unit system of voting for State officials in primaries as antiquated and said the system has sometimes resulted in a choice of candidates who did not represent a majority of the voters.

Reapportionment of the General Assembly would do much to eliminate that problem, he said.

YMCA Plans Family Picnic

Reservations for the Y family picnic will be accepted until Tuesday evening, according to Ben Haines, program director.

Couple Burned In Washington Apartment Fire

Former Elk Garden Man Is 'Serious'

His wife, Mrs. Ellen (Birher) Blackburn, also 40, was treated for burns on her arm.

The couple had moved into the third-floor apartment at 3166 18th Street N. W. on Thursday, and the fire broke out early yesterday morning.

Mr. Blackburn managed to escape from the burning apartment and returned through the flames to look for his wife.

Meanwhile she had climbed to the roof of the building and was rescued by firemen with a ladder.

Taxi Driver Seeks $50,000 For Injuries

A $50,000 damage suit growing out of a collision between a taxi and a privately-owned automobile at the intersection of Washington and Lee streets was filed yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court.

Harry William Davis, this city, for his own use and the use of the Maryland Indemnity and Fire Insurance Exchange, brought the action against Michael Quartucci of Cresaptown. The suit was filed by Attorneys Hugh A. McMullen and William Walsh.

The declaration stated that Mr. Davis was driving an Astor Cab Company vehicle west on Washington Street at the time of the accident last September 30. At the same time Mr. Quartucci was driving north on Lee Street.

This declaration asserts that Mr. Quartucci failed to observe the stop sign at the intersection and struck the cab causing serious injury to the cab driver. Mr. Davis' injuries were listed as severe lacerations of the head and face, severe lacerations and abrasions of the left leg, abrasions and contusions of his chest and ribs, fracture of his right knee.

Mr. Davis was permanently crippled and has been unable to drive a cab since the accident, the declaration adds. He had been earning about $58 a week as a cab driver but has been unemployed the past six months.

The Maryland Indemnity and Fire Insurance Exchange holds the Astor Cab Company's Workmen's compensation insurance and Mr. Davis has filed a claim with the State Workmen's Compensation Commission.

Census Drops City's Share Of Race Tax

Levy Estimate Will Be Lowered

Cumberland's pride was hurt when the results of the 1960 Census were in.

The count disclosed that this Western Maryland industrial and transportation center was no longer Maryland's second largest city and that the honor was to go to Hagerstown.

The census showed that Cumberland's population, which stood at 37,679 in 1950, had dropped to 33,415. It was slightly more, 38,483, in the 1940 Census.

Now the census figures are hurting again, and in the pocketbook.

The fiscal results of the decrease in population showed up this year in a drop in the city's share of state horse racing income.

The City of Cumberland estimated, in the 1960-61 levy, that it would receive $44,000 from this state-shared source of revenues which is distributed on the basis of population.

Receipts Drop

The actual receipts were $38,669.77, which is $5,330.23 less than was levied.

City Comptroller Arthur B. Gibson said yesterday he will be obliged to drop the estimate for the present fiscal year.

The need was disclosed this week as the city received its first payment from state racing income funds for fiscal 1961-1962. The check totaled $18,522.13, or about $12,000 less than last year's first payment.

In the 1959 budget, the first payment totaled $32,317.72. The first 1960 check was for $30,342.42.

Income from the so-called Sherbow funds, which are shared with political subdivisions in lieu of taxing powers, was spotty during the fiscal year which ended June 30.

State admission tax funds, estimated at $3,000, fell short $85.73.

State auto license fees, for which $34,000 was levied, totaled $41,839.25, or $7,839.25 more than was anticipated.

State franchise taxes brought in $1,778.75, or $21.25 short of the levy.

Gas Tax Up

State gas and auto tax funds amounted to $95,904.87, or $10,904.87 more than the levy.

State income tax funds brought in a healthy $93,249.67, or $23,249.67 more than was included in the levy.

State racing income, as was mentioned, totaled $38,669.77, or $5,330.23 short of the levy.

The city actually fared pretty well on total state-shared income. Actual collections were some $37,000 higher than the $237,800 which was levied from Sherbow funds.

Small Plant Gets Permit For Building

Biltwell Fabricating Company in Election District 16 at North Branch yesterday obtained a permit to build a $3,500 fabricating building. James G. Stevenson, clerk to the county commissioners, who issued the permit, wrote that the new structure will be a 60-by-60-foot concrete block building.

The Cumberland Industrial Development Corporation, in its annual report issued in June, listed Biltwell as one of two small manufacturing plants brought to the Cumberland area in the past 12 months.

Biltwell has taken over the old Twigg Sheet Metal Shop at North Branch. It is assembling small trailers for the Army.

Says It 'Violates Moral Propriety'

BRYANTOWN, Md. (AP)—David Hume, a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, said Friday a proposed testimonial dinner for Gov. Tawes involves "a violation of moral propriety at the very least."

In a statement issued from his Charles County home, Hume said the dinner has been described by its sponsors "in two separate incompatible ways."

"First, the money was to be an outright gift to the governor," Hume said. "Secondly, the money was for a campaign war chest to assist the governor in seeking another term.

"Experienced as he (Tawes) is in politics and with all the legal aid available to him, he should know that if the money is a gift, he should not in good conscience accept it; and if it is for campaign purposes he should comply with the provisions of the Corrupt Practices Act and file immediately as a candidate."

If the projected dinner does violate the Corrupt Practices Act, Hume said, "the governor should recognize that under the law the buyer of the ticket, as well as the person who gets the money is equally guilty."

"I have no desire to injure any person through some legal technicality," Hume said.

"Nevertheless, there is a violation of moral propriety here at the very least...a violation so strong that the sponsors of this affair and the governor should recognize that when our great Democratic party is treated in such fashion, another candidate acting as the standardbearer in 1962, whoever he may be, will find himself penalized for actions not his own."

The use of sprays on shade trees was explained by Dr. George S. Langford and Dr. L. O. Weaver of the University of Maryland.

Wallet, $300 Is Returned To Shopper

A woman who was shopping in the Tri-State Discount Store on Gay Street Thursday evening learned there are still honest people in this world.

She mislaid her wallet containing over $300. It was found by William Weaver, about 21, of Ellerslie, who took it to the service counter.

Arnold Arnone, assistant manager, was notified, and used the store's loudspeaker system to ask if the woman was in the store.

She went to his office and inquired if a wallet had been found. She was given the wallet after properly identifying it as hers.

Meanwhile Mr. Weaver had left, knowing that the woman—a very relieved and happy person—had claimed her wallet and money.

Until this announcement, reservists generally could get active duty only by vacating their reserve status and joining the regular Marine Corps for four-year tours.

The fifth birthday campaign of County United Fund is coming up and Duard H. Little, manager of Allegany Ballistics Laboratory and 1961 general chairman, is getting ready to put the drive in orbit by naming the top men of area communities to top CUF jobs.

His most recent appointee, J. Lee Temple, cashier of the Keyser National Bank, who will head the 1961 CUF drive in the Keyser area, is not only a top man in his community, but an ardent CUF campaign worker over the past four years.

Mr. Temple "knows the ropes," having worked in just about every department of the big givers' organization which this year is out to raise $361,231 for 31 health, social service, youth and community agencies in 31 towns of Allegany and Mineral counties.

The Cumberland Recreation Department, co-sponsor with the Outdoor Club and the Oldtown Sportsmen Club, reports that nine of the 14 city playgrounds will provide buses for children. Other grounds are making arrangements for transportation.

Tawes To Back Bill Favoring Urban Dwellers

Says Unit System Is Antiquated

ROCKVILLE, Md. (AP)—Gov. Tawes said Friday he will support reapportionment of the Maryland Legislature next year to give urban areas better representation.

He disclosed his plans in a letter to the Democratic State Central Committee of Montgomery County.

"Maryland cannot afford a system that makes second-class citizens of its urban dwellers," the governor said.

To Back Bill

Replying to the committee's request for a commission to study redistricting, reapportionment and the county unit voting system, Tawes said:

"What we need is not more study but action. I intend to support a reapportionment bill in the next session of the General Assembly with all my strength as governor and my position as leader of the Democratic party."

A reapportionment bill backed by Tawes failed in the 1961 Legislature.

As to rearranging congressional districts in the state, the governor said he prefers to "await the decision of the electorate."

Voters To Decide

Voters will decide next year whether to approve creation of an 8th Congressional District composed of Prince Georges and Howard counties.

The governor termed the county unit system of voting for State officials in primaries as antiquated and said the system has sometimes resulted in a choice of candidates who did not represent a majority of the voters.

Reapportionment of the General Assembly would do much to eliminate that problem, he said.

Former Elk Garden Man Is 'Serious'

Charles R. Blackburn, 40, who suffered second and third degree burns, is reported in "serious" condition at Walter Reed Hospital in Washington.

His wife, Mrs. Ellen (Birher) Blackburn, also 40, was treated for burns on her arm.

The couple had moved into the third-floor apartment at 3166 18th Street N. W. on Thursday, and the fire broke out early yesterday morning.

Mr. Blackburn managed to escape from the burning apartment and returned through the flames to look for his wife.

Meanwhile she had climbed to the roof of the building and was rescued by firemen with a ladder.

Taxi Driver Seeks $50,000 For Injuries

A $50,000 damage suit growing out of a collision between a taxi and a privately-owned automobile at the intersection of Washington and Lee streets was filed yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court.

Harry William Davis, this city, for his own use and the use of the Maryland Indemnity and Fire Insurance Exchange, brought the action against Michael Quartucci of Cresaptown. The suit was filed by Attorneys Hugh A. McMullen and William Walsh.

The declaration stated that Mr. Davis was driving an Astor Cab Company vehicle west on Washington Street at the time of the accident last September 30. At the same time Mr. Quartucci was driving north on Lee Street.

This declaration asserts that Mr. Quartucci failed to observe the stop sign at the intersection and struck the cab causing serious injury to the cab driver. Mr. Davis' injuries were listed as severe lacerations of the head and face, severe lacerations and abrasions of the left leg, abrasions and contusions of his chest and ribs, fracture of his right knee.

Mr. Davis was permanently crippled and has been unable to drive a cab since the accident, the declaration adds. He had been earning about $58 a week as a cab driver but has been unemployed the past six months.

The Maryland Indemnity and Fire Insurance Exchange holds the Astor Cab Company's Workmen's compensation insurance and Mr. Davis has filed a claim with the State Workmen's Compensation Commission.

Andy Griffith Staunch Admirer Of Don Knotts

There are method actors. And there are natural actors. And it's difficult to figure out where Don Knotts fits in. As "good old reliable deputy Barney Fife" on the Andy Griffith CBS-TV series, Don has gotten some of his greatest laughs via his fumbling nerves.

He has also gotten an Emmy from the National Academy of Television Arts and Scienses, and gotten his option picked up for a second season on the Griffith show.

Is Knotts really that nervous and unsure of himself?

Not even he knows, for certain.

"That is the funniest man I have ever known," says Griffith without qualification. "Some of the funniest bits we had in the show last season were Don's. Just sits there, and comes up with 'em. Or he does a bit of business. Anyone else try it, nothing. When Don does it, you can fall down dead laughing. I do too, lots of times."

Knotts himself doesn't think he's particularly funny. Or if he does, he hasn't been that immodest to mention it.

"I'm just doing a job. And I enjoy what I'm doing," he says quietly. Not particularly taciturn, he still isn't a chatterbox type, and is the kind who'd rather sit and listen to conversation around him than conduct it. He'll participate when necessary. He isn't a life of the party type by any means.

Except on one subject. Golf. To this he is dedicated, and if he's lucky enough to get two hours off on a workday, he heads for the nearest course. Vacations with his pretty wife, Kay, are always spent in the proximity of at least one golf course, and preferably two. And while he's a devoted father to their two children, Karen aged 7 and Tom, 4½, he still wangles time on weekends for the golf course.
